HAD ONLY 11 CHILDREN, SO THEY ADOPT 15 MORE

J. M. C. Woods and Freddie

Street Car Conductor and Wife Extremely Fond Of Youngsters

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 1.—They had 11 children of their own; but 11 were not enough. So they adopted 15 more.

"They" are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. C. Woods, of Fort Smith. Woods is a street car conductor—has been one almost all his life.

He and his wife are now engaged in rearing the last of this huge brood of theirs.

Woods did not bring up all these children on his wages as a conductor. Years ago he owned some farm land in Crawford county, Ark. He sold this when he first came to Fort Smith, in 1900, and invested in property on what was then the outskirts of the city.

This property increased in value, and while Woods is not exactly rich, he is in comfortable financial circumstances. But he has never given up his job with the traction company, chiefly because he likes the work.

Eleven Not Enough
The 11 children born to Woods and his wife didn't satisfy their love for youngsters. So, when these children began to grow up and leave the parental home, the Woods began adopting more.

The income from Woods' investment sufficed to keep the big family in comfort. As each child grew up, left the home and married he or she was given a little nest egg, "to set 'em in housekeeping," as Woods expressed it.

Seven years ago the 25th child moved out. Mr. and Mrs. Woods were left alone. They agreed they had earned a rest.

They Adopt Freddie
But a little chap named Freddie was deserted by his parents. He was all alone—and Mr. and Mrs. Woods couldn't stand that. So they adopted him.

Freddie is getting along fine. He already has been provided with a house and lot, his whenever he grows old enough to move in. He has a pony and cart, a top automobile, a phonograph—and best of all, he has a foster father and mother who care for him as tenderly as if he were their own.

And Woods, every day, continues to ride back and forth across the city on his trolley car.

Trial by Jury Is Demanded by Alleged Drunk

J. Parks, reputed to be a San Francisco newspaperman, who was arrested at a Laguna Beach dance Saturday night on charge of being intoxicated, demanded a jury trial before Justice of the Peace Murphy in Laguna Beach this morning.

Parks was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Smith and Mozley. A companion, C. W. Towle, was not detained. Parks was brought to the Orange county jail, where he demanded that a physician make an examination. The physician's report, given at the hearing this morning, was to the effect that the man undoubtedly was under the influence of liquor at the time of arrest.

Parks gave a Los Angeles address this morning.

STEALS OWN AUTO

OMAHA, Neb., June 1.—Weston Wiswall spent two nights in jail for stealing his own automobile. Mrs. Wiswall had parked the car downtown, and Mr. Wiswall, finding it, drove away. Mrs. Wiswall told police. Mr. Wiswall reported her husband missing, too, so the lost was found.

LET LADIES DANCE

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 1.—The Zebek, or Turkish national dance, has been changed so that women may participate. There are many variations of the dance throughout the country, the peasants having a kind of their own. It is wildly vivacious.

NO CHANGES IN OPERATION OF SCHOOLS. PLAN

Alex Brownridge, president of the Santa Ana board of education, announced this morning that no changes are contemplated in the present system of operating the Santa Ana schools, and the Frances E. Willard junior high schools in this city, the maintenance of which has been declared illegal by State Attorney General U. S. Webb in a recent opinion furnished the district attorney of Orange county.

The head of the school board admitted, however, that certain readjustments may be necessary to conform to legal provisions cited in the opinion of the state official, so as to establish district and separate accounts for the various grades maintained in these schools.

Inquiries at the board of education offices elicited the information that there is nothing in the state law nor in the Webb opinion which prohibits the Santa Ana school board from maintaining the seventh, eighth and ninth grade classes in one building as an administrative unit.

To Use High School Funds.
Operation expenses for maintaining the seventh and eighth grades will be defrayed as heretofore from elementary school funds, collected from taxpayers living within the Santa Ana elementary school district, while the ninth grade will be supported by high school funds.

It was intimated by the school officials that the various phases of the question, as set forth in the attorney general's opinion, will be discussed and acted upon at the next regular meeting of the school board.

As an indirect result of the Webb opinion, the local school authorities may be compelled to enforce section 1665 of the California school law, prescribing certain courses of study in elementary schools, including "training for healthful living." The latter subject includes biology and physiology.

Optional in Junior High.
While such studies are obligatory in the elementary schools, they are made optional in junior high schools, at the discretion of local school authorities. No such discretionary powers are given the local school boards in selecting courses for elementary schools, where the curriculum is prescribed by the state authorities, it was explained.

Such an application of the school law, as it refers to elementary schools, might compel several pupils in the elementary grades in the Frances E. Willard and Julia C. Lathrop schools, now excused from biology and physiology, to take the required course as set out in section 1665 of the school law, it was ascertained.

Mme. de Brittencourt, wife of the Chilean minister at the Court of St. James is said to possess 300 gowns, all of which are cross-indexed with outfits to match.

Furniture repaired. Fix-It Shop, 105 E. 3rd.

HAVE YOU TROUTITIS? WE CURE IT

It is a disease no one ever wants to get rid of—starts with an itch to get hold of a rod, and doesn't quit, generally, until the old creel is filled to capacity. Temporary relief may be had at THE RAINBOW ANGLING CLUB, where the streams are fairly teeming with the best antidote for "troutitis"—we know of—gamey, speckled beauties of the most appetizing size. Spring fever and "troutitis" go hand in hand, and the best thing to do when they get into your system is to tie right up here to the club. Entrance and usual yearly fishing fee until July 1, 1926, $20. After July 1st, entrance fee will be $30, plus usual yearly fishing fee, $20. Memberships transferable after July 1st. No extra entrance fee will be charged to present members at any time.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative

—Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

VICE CONSUL IS ARRAIGNED ON THREE CHARGES

Booted on three charges, possession of intoxicating liquor, transportation of intoxicating liquor and reckless driving, Lam-berto H. Obregon, Mexican vice consul, of Los Angeles, and said to be a nephew of ex-President Obregon, of Mexico, today was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. He pleaded not guilty to the three charges and examining trials were set for June 10, at 10 a. m.

B. R. Hill, 23, Stillwell hotel, Los Angeles, and G. Inzunza, Los Angeles, companions of Obregon at the time of his arrest here, and who were jailed on possession of intoxicating liquor charges, each were released today on $500 cash bail, put up by Obregon. They were arraigned and examining trials set for June 10.

P. G. Yoder, state traffic officer, arrested the trio on the Irvine boulevard, Saturday. Two pints of alleged liquor were said to have been in the machine and, according to Yoder, the vice consul who was driving the machine, was speeding in excess of 50 miles an hour.

Obregon told Justice Kenneth Morrison that he lived at 2320 Raymond avenue, Los Angeles.

MAY MARRIAGE RECORDS ARE SMASHED HERE

Romance scored its second successive triumph in Orange county when a check of the marriage license bureau here today revealed that 432 marriage licenses were issued during the month of May, breaking all May records.

April, with 392 licenses, had smashed all previous records for that month, but not so decisively as May, which exceeded May, 1925, by 79 licenses. The latter month had but 353.

The present high record for all months, 492, established in June, 1925, may topple during the present month, County Clerk J. M. Backs believes. In view of the pace set by April and May, Backs expects to see June go over the 500 mark.

The first June bride in the county was Miss Hazel H. Handasyde, of Inglewood, who appeared at the license bureau shortly after it opened today, in company with Christopher J. Dee, 24, of Los Angeles.

C. C. Young Will Arrive In City Tomorrow Noon

Lt. Gov. C. C. Young, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor at the August primaries will be in Santa Ana tomorrow noon, afternoon and evening, a guest at St. Ann's Inn.

Young recently was injured in an automobile accident in the Imperial valley and still is suffering from several broken ribs. As a result, Young will be unable to get out to any extent and will be unable to do any speaking while in Santa Ana. However, he will be glad to meet any of his friends or anyone else who would like to talk to him at St. Ann's Inn.

Tomorrow noon the lieutenant governor will be a guest at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, but will make no speech.

CAR STRIKES MAN AND BREAKS LEG

FULLERTON, June 1.—Charles Teinert, of Buena Park, suffered a broken leg this morning, when he was run down by an automobile, said to have been driven by Edward T. Bosbaugh, of 335 Birch avenue, Hawthorne.

The injured man was taken to the Fullerton General hospital. According to witnesses, Teinert had stopped his car and started across the road leading from Fullerton to Buena Park. He wheeled around as he reached the center of the highway and started back, stepping directly into the path of Bosbaugh's machine, it is said.

CANYON PAVING TO BE STARTED NEXT THURSDAY

Work on the four-mile paving contract between Peralta and Jefferson streets, in Santa Ana canyon, will commence next Thursday, according to an announcement today by J. L. McBride, county superintendent of highways.

The United Concrete Pipe and Construction company recently was awarded the contract at a figure of $130,000. Plans call for the widening, straightening and thickening of the highway. Operations will commence at the eastern end, Peralta. The present 16-foot highway will be widened to 20 feet, while five inches of concrete will be laid over the present four-inch paving. On the widened portion, the concrete will be eight inches thick.

At Jefferson street, about a mile east of Olive, the new paving will meet the recently widened and thickened boulevard extending east from Olive.

McBride declared today that a by-pass will be maintained throughout the construction operations, the old road being held open as long as possible and a by-pass constructed a day ahead of the paving. This by-pass, he said, will be ample for all automobiles and light trucks, but not for the larger trucks. Hay and lumber trucks, with trailers, in particular, are warned to stay out of the by-pass. That situation will exist for about a month, McBride said. It is expected that the new highway from Peralta to the Yorba road will be open for travel by July 5.

"We will make every effort to inconvenience the traveling public as little as possible," said McBride. "But it will be necessary that the larger trucks do not attempt to use the by-pass."

TERRIBLE PAIN

Alabama Lady Tells How She Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui. Feels Fine and Enjoys Life, Now, She Says

Tallahassee, Ala.—Mrs. Mary Hardy, 408 Henderson Avenue, this city, says that seven years ago she "got down sick" and was unable to attend to her household.

"I have never been so weak before or since," she says. "I had a terrible pain in my side—so sore in my side and the lower part of my body."

"Across my back ached, and I was so nervous I couldn't stand up. I had just about given up when some one who came to see me began talking about Cardui. This caused me to get it. I took about two bottles before I saw much improvement."

"After this, though, I picked up right away. I slept better at night. I was hungry, enjoyed my food, which I hadn't done for some time."

"The pain and soreness gradually left my side. I regained my strength. I took about six bottles and left off for awhile, then took two or three more. . . I feel just fine, enjoy life and can work now, too."

Cardui is purely vegetable, and contains no harmful drugs. It has helped thousands of suffering women and should help you, too.

RHEUMATISM

Cannot Exist
It is preposterous: in fact, it is a shame to suffer with inflammatory, muscular, sciatic or any form of Rheumatism.

Trunk's Prescription does not ruin the stomach. It does not depress the heart. Eat all the meat and good food you wish while taking Trunk's Prescription. Contains no mercury, salicylate soda, oil, wintergreen or narcotics, but overcomes any kind of rheumatism or gout on earth. What more do you want? It is impossible to get something better. Uric acid solvent and superior liver medicine.

Trunk's Prescription sells for $1.75 per 2 for $5.00 at Rowley Drug Co., Fourth and Main.

BOND AND TAX LEVY ELECTION COST $1443.52

The special city election on May 26, to vote on two bonding propositions and an ordinance, carrying two tax levy proposals, cost the municipality $1443.52, according to compilation made today by The Register.

The figures explode entirely the assertions prior to the election that the cost would be in excess of $6000. They also knock into a cocked hat declarations in the past that special elections should not be held because of excessive costs.

Expenses of the last special election were increased by the fact that there virtually were two elections. The bonds and the tax levy proposals required separate ballots and publication of separate election calls.

The city was divided into 12 precincts, with six members on each election board. The officials were paid $6 each for the day's work, making a cost of $36 for each board, or a total of $432 for election officers.

Publication of the election calls and the ordinance, under which the tax levies were provided, cost $354.77.

Sample ballots, official ballots, envelopes, etc., added $295.90.

Election supplies, such as pencils, rubber stamps, ink pads, etc., cost $170.40.

The postage on sample ballots was $149.75, there being no extra cost for addressing, as the work was done by the regular force in the office of the city clerk.

Sample ballots, official ballots, envelopes, etc., added $295.90.

FINAL SACRED CONCERT GIVEN BY ORCHESTRA

Concluding a series of orchestra recitals in various churches of the community, the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, directed by D. C. Clanton, on Sunday night presented the final recital in the White Temple, Anaheim, to one of the most enthusiastic audiences that has listened to the orchestra.

Practically the entire organization was present and the program was an inspiring and beautiful one, according to all comments heard, with the opinion freely expressed that Conductor Clanton outdid all previous performances.

J. Lambert Baker, of Los Angeles, was soloist and offered a group composed of Kipling's "Requiem," with music by Homer, and "There Is No Death," by O'Hara. Mrs. A. Betts, of the First M. E. church, of this city, was her husband's accompanist.

Next Friday afternoon and evening, the orchestra members and their families will picnic at Hewes park upon the invitation of D. E. Huffman Huff, and thus will conclude their season with a happy social event.

Holidays
It has been the custom of the school to give a quarter day holiday to the room having the highest per cent of attendance. This fell to the fifth and sixth grades this month and they promptly decided on a beach party. On Wednesday they refused to give even a distant glance at the school room after the first hour class in the afternoon when five cars drew up in front of the building to take them to Newport Beach.

Mrs. Tyrrell, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Baer, Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Carse, Mrs. Hamliker, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Smith went along as guides. At any rate they assisted the polly youngsters to the extent that not a bite of food had to be carried home.

The picnic was such a lot of fun that every room is now trying to gain more than the 99.03 per cent which these two grades had last month.

Student Leaves
Bernard Dunnigan took a transfer for Taft on Friday and we are very sorry to lose him. He caused quite a ripple of amusement in assembly when the usual good bye song was sung for him, the last line of which, "Remember Edison School," when he chimed out, "you bet I will!"

"Barney" has been the president of the Student Self Government for the last period and has given excellent service; he will be missed in athletics as a real sportsman and everywhere as a fine friend.

Flower Tribute
Mrs. Elwood came in to the office Friday with an arm load of flowers for the teachers. The committee from the fifth and sixth grades, Lois Porter, Mary Dahm and Pauline Evans met with Mr. Cranston on Saturday to decide how best to dispose of their little fund for the school. They have this money from the sale of magazines and remitted fines which Miss Livingston gave to us. The decision will be given later.

If We Could Wish Again

Of all things most desired what would it be? Sterling silver, we think. Because it lasts forever? Again yes! But most of all because sterling is so genuine—so really fine a thing.

Somewhere there is a girl who hopes yet wonders if we will guess. Shall we give her sterling? Let's do—that our dowry of affection may mean all things to her, always.

One of the finest collections in California awaits your inspection here.

Junior College Girls
Honor Sophomores
At Tea

DISTINGUISHED by a marked and friendly charm was the tea presented Saturday afternoon by the Misses Ruth Stephenson and Geneva Moore, complimenting the girls of the sophomore (graduating) class of Santa Ana Junior college.

The delightful affair was given at the home of Miss Stephenson, 423 West Santa Ana avenue, where quantities of flowers formed appropriate background for the picture of charming youth presented by the guests. The two young hostesses were gowned alike in summery frocks of pale green printed silk, worn with airy scarfs to harmonize. Receiving with them was Miss Mary Elizabeth Rutledge, a member of the freshmen class, who wore a girlish white frock.

Features of an entertaining program were given at intervals throughout the afternoon and included piano numbers by Miss Nellie Mai Chapman; readings, including "For Goodness' Sake!" by Miss Louane Leech; "Brahms Waltz" danced by Miss Chalmers Lindsey; and violin solo, the Negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," by Miss Lorene Porter.

Floral decorations of the drawing-room included all the colorful flowers of the season, but in the dining-room, a purple and white motif was maintained, expressive of the elegant colors. The tea-table with its attractive silver and crystal, was centered with statice and Shasta daisies flanked by tall purple candles. Mrs. Robert Northcross presided at the tea urn, and with the fragrant beverage were served varieties of sandwiches, delicious home-made cake, stuffed dates, salted nuts and sweetmeats.

Asked to assemble for the happy afternoon with the hostesses, Miss Stephenson, Miss Moore and their aide, Miss Rutledge, were the Misses Marjorie Blauer, Lillian Kirkwood, Dorothy Cartwright, Blanche Thompson, Frances Knudsen, Marian Durbin, Wilma Brundin, Dora McWaters, Helen Glancy, Dorcas Leonard, Dorothy Leonard, Eleanor Guyer, Ruth Hilliard, Catherine Wood, Louane Leech, Alice Olive Forcey, Frances Hallman, Margaret Cotant, and the special guests who included Mrs. Northcross and the artists of the program, the Misses Lorene Porter, Nellie Mai Chapman and Chalmers Lindsey, together with the following members of the faculty: the Misses Mary Swann, Floy Donaldson, Josephine Arnold, Margaret Baker, Louise Mansfield, Florence Treadway, Etta Conkle, Lella Watson, Jennie Lasby and Mabel Whitling.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Lincoln P.-T. A. will meet Thursday afternoon, at 2:45 o'clock. The meeting was announced as an evening one but because of the ball games played at the school in the evening it was thought better to have the meeting in the afternoon. The high sixth grade has arranged a program and it is requested that as many mothers and fathers as possible be present.

The Woman's Society of the First Congregational church will meet tomorrow for an all-day meeting in the church bungalow. A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon for which tables will be arranged according to the four seasons. Members will take their places according to the season in which they were born. There is a surprise in store for the section having the most members present. Work will be on articles for the bazaar. This will be the final meeting of the year.

The south-east section of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon, June 2, at 1 o'clock, for sewing and every member is urged to be present.

The regular meeting of the executive board of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs will be held Monday morning, June 7, at 10 o'clock in the clubhouse of the Garden Grove Civic club. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Section No. 1 of St. Joseph's Altar society will be hostesses tomorrow afternoon to their friends at a card party to be given in Knights of Columbus hall, corner Fourth and French streets, play beginning at 2 o'clock. Miss Barbara Klatt is chairman of the section and she and her co-workers promise a pleasant

Rainbow Colors Used
In Appointments of Pretty Affair

MAY flowers and rainbows are not often thought of together except in color but last Friday evening at the Pankey home on North Broadway, guests were sure that they had wandered into the place where the rainbow ends.

For Mrs. H. S. Pankey and Mrs. F. C. Pope, hostesses, had used in their decorations, rainbow tints of yellow, lavender, pink, blue and white, besides the many colored flowers which were to be seen throughout the rooms.

The party was given in honor of Miss Dorothy Thurston, an employee of the Orange County Title company, who is to leave soon for a month's vacation in Chicago. Five hundred was the chosen game and attractive rewards were presented to those having high score at each table. They were Miss Hannah Marston, Miss Mildred Calkins, Miss Pauline Calkins, Miss Dean Laury and Miss Addie Leach.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses who were assisted by Mrs. Olive Thurston and Miss Margaret Thurston, mother and sister of the honoree. At each place was a tiny suit-case, filled with candies and nuts, which emphasized the travel motif.

Another charming feature of the party was the presenting of Miss Thurston with a beautiful hand-painted scarf by her co-workers in the title company.

Those who enjoyed the party with the hostesses were the Misses Hannah Marston, Pas Carsons, Genevieve Galbraith, Dorothy Beckman, Hattie Bellwell, Addie Leach, Marguerite Park, Mae Carter, Alta Carter, Lenora Calkins, Mildred Calkins, Pauline Calkins, Henrietta Lykke, Billie Smith, Dean Laury, and Margaret Thurston and Mesdames Madeline Coulson, Louise McGill, Alma Wilson, Glenda Mae Kahler, Olive Thurston and Pauline Couchman.

University Study

Members of Ebells' university section met last Thursday for the first meeting of the year when officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. J. P. Wilson was re-elected leader and Miss Minnie Childs, secretary. It was decided that the section should meet on the second and four Thursdays of the month.

E. M. Nealley lectured on the "Problem of Evil in the Universe." He said that the most profound thinking accomplished by man has been called out by direct suffering.

An interesting feature of his lecture was the tracing on a map, or chart, the effects of pooled, or capitalized, mass of human experience. Mr. Nealley has kindly consented to comply with the enthusiastic request of the section members to continue his lectures. Instead of giving attention to special problems in philosophy as during the present year, the class will probably favor taking up a systematic course in the history of philosophy.

Music Recital

Carolyn Haughton
On Thursday night, June 3, Miss Carolyn Haughton will present a group of intermediate pupils in a piano recital at Chandler's music room, the program to begin at 8 o'clock. Miss Haughton is issuing a general invitation to all who are interested in the progress of children in music.

Leonore Tompkins
Ebells auditorium will be the scene of a student recital on Thursday night, in which Miss Leonore Tompkins will present a group of young people from beginners to advanced pupils in piano work. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and interested friends will be welcomed. One of the brilliant young pupils to be introduced will be Miss Florence Resnick, winner of first prize in the Orange county Elistedford held last Saturday. In addition to the piano numbers, the program will feature Madam Leon-tine Redon, as guest artist. Mme. Redon will sing several songs at intervals on the program.

Afternoon with worthwhile prizes and refreshments.

At the meeting tomorrow in the church parlors of the Woman's Altar society will be present her Spurgeon school kindergarten band as a special treat. Anyone who is interested is invited to drop in about 2:15 o'clock in order to hear it.

Alumni Association Is To Present Evening
Of Pleasures

ITH the school year drawing to a close, interest among "all grade" now centers in that outstanding event of the year, the annual alumni entertainment when the fledglings of the present year, desert the nest of their high school and essay their first flight into the world, to be accepted as really truly alumni.

This year, the officers of the association have planned to hold the festivity at Ebells clubhouse where dinner will be served under the direction of the modern poetry section of the society. This will be at 6:30 o'clock and arrangements have been made whereby class groups will dine together. Among these will be the class of 1901 whose members are celebrating their silver anniversary.

Following the banquet, adjournment will be made to the adjoining auditorium where, under the direction of the president, Arthur Collins, an entertaining program will be staged. This will offer a clever one-act play written by Carson Smith, an alumnus and directed by Gladys Simpson Shafer, another alumnus. In it, Mrs. H. H. Reeves, whose sons are graduates of Poly H. takes part together with Mrs. Shafer, Mr. Smith and Miss Mary Clantoni who in time will be a Santa Ana High school alumnus.

In addition to the play there will be vocal numbers by other alumni including Holly Lash Vial, Monroe Sharpless and Jerry Lind, who lives up to the traditions of the famous cantatrice who first bore her name, Miss Faustina Lucero, so soon to go to the Sequel-Centennial as "Miss California," will be present and will present some of her famous dances. Miss Ruth Armstrong will play accompaniments for the various numbers.

At the close of the program and the necessary but brief, business session, the peacock room will be in readiness for dancing while the luxurious lounge will serve as card room or as a gathering place for class reunions.

In fact no effort has been spared by President Collins and his fellow officers, to make the 1926 event an outstanding one in alumni association history. They are asking in return, that reservations be made at the earliest possible date, as the Ebells section in charge of the dinner plans, must know how many will be present.

Assisting the president, Arthur Collins, are Miss Mary Wakeham, vice president; Miss Thelma Patton, secretary-treasurer, and an executive committee composed of Miss Harriet Whidden, Walter Collins, Franklin West, Miss Gail Finley and Fred Forry.

Evening of Music
At Ebells Clubhouse

An event of the week which promises many interesting features is the evening of music to which the music department of Santa Ana Junior College has issued invitations and which will be held on the night of June 4, at Ebells clubhouse, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Program features will be varied and delightful and will be presented in the club auditorium. Following the formal program, an informal reception will be staged in the peacock room.

Piano Recital

A very successful piano recital took place on Saturday evening, when Miss Nell Isaacson presented five of her piano students. The recital was given at her residence, 2028 South Birch street.

The program was made up of classical and modern piano numbers and each student played three groups of pieces.

Smoothness, expression and ease were qualities which gave evidence of much good work on the part of teacher and pupils and also much progress over former recitals was plainly manifested.

At the close of the program Miss Isaacson and her mother, Mrs. Lida J. Isaacson, were assisted by several young students in the serving of punch and wafers. Those attending were friends of the young people to whom invitations had been sent a week before.

Those taking part on the program were Eleanor Crill, Doris Rohrbacher, Pauline Wells, Armine Crawford and Barbara Horton.

Popular Bride-elect
Is Complimented at Smart Affair

COMPLIMENTARY to Miss Mildred Paul, charming fiancée of Felton Browning, was the bridge tea and miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon by Miss Virginia Slabaugh at the Dr. F. W. Slabaugh home, 1602 North Main street.

Guests were greeted by a youthful trio composed of Miss Slabaugh, gowned in orchid georgette, Miss Paul wearing a bouffant frock of Dresden silk and Mrs. Cassius Paul, one of last autumn's brides, in a beige silk frock. Receiving with them were Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and Mrs. J. E. Paul.

The home was like a flower garden, so lavish and so lovely were the blossoms used in graceful baskets. Gladioli in soft tints, vivid peonies, Japanese lilac and Scotch broom were among the varieties noted, although a yellow and white harmony prevailed, with the other vivid colors serving as high lights.

Miss Slabaugh emphasized the flower motif in her prize awards in bridge also, presenting a pretty hand-painted plate to Miss Paul, fortunate holder of high score. With it, she gave a corsage bouquet of yellow and white blossoms, designed as special guest prize. A hand-painted handkerchief was consolation gift awarded Mrs. Roy Browning. Scores were tallied on attractive little cards depicting dainty brides, and brides formed the stipling feature of the table decorations when refreshments were served after a merry interval spent in the garden and on the wide porches of the home.

When the guests were asked to turn to the tables for the tea menu, they found each one of the five presided over by a demure doll bride wearing the traditional gown and flowing veil and bearing a bridal bouquet of wee white blossoms. A bank of green fern formed suitable background. A menu of ices in wedding bell form, white cake adorned with yellow wedding bells, yellow and white bonbons and coffee, was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Virginia Slabaugh wearing rose-pink and Miss Ann Tarver in white silk with batik designs.

Following the refreshments, interval, Miss Slabaugh and her sister, Miss Helen Slabaugh, entered pushing a tea wagon literally overflowing with gifts in attractive wrappings. These were all for Miss Paul, and their examining gave pleasure to the guests as well as to the bride-to-be, whose new home they will grace.

No party at the Slabaugh's can be considered complete unless the guests prevail upon Mrs. Slabaugh to sing, for her voice is one of the sweetest in the city, and her generosity is always an outstanding charm. In honor of Miss Paul she sang a group of three beautiful numbers, the "Indian Love Call" from "Rose Marie," "Memory" and "The Happy Song" by Teresa Del Riego.

Ebells Travelers

A. M. McDermott spoke before the third travel section of Ebells society, Friday afternoon at its last meeting for the year. His subject was "Mining and Precious Stones in Mexico."

Mr. McDermott stated that Mexico is rich in natural resources but sadly lacking in harbors and rivers which would aid so much in their development. "Nearly every kind of mineral can be found in Mexico," he said, "and she has more than her share of gold, silver, copper and similar minerals."

Mr. McDermott explained that the veins in Mexico were a continuation of the singularly rich mineral veins to be found in California, Colorado and Montana. An interesting feature of the talk was the descriptions of the various methods of mining from the crude efforts of years ago by the Indians to the modern methods.

"Few realize," he continued, "that if all mining were to close down for a year in Mexico it would cause disaster to the whole country." The numberless varieties of precious stones were described and the possibilities of Mexico of the future were touched upon before the interesting discussion was concluded.

MANY TEACHERS PLAN FURTHER COLLEGE WORK THIS SUMMER

Number of Instructors to Spend Vacation in Pursuit of More Education

FEW WILL REMAIN IN ORANGE COUNTY

Pedagogues Are Bitten by Travel Bug and Arrange For Long Holiday Trips

Post graduate or preparatory work in various universities; extension work in educational fields; travel for instruction and recreation; and vacation trips to nearby resorts are among the summer plans of the teachers in the Frances E. Willard junior high school.

William S. Kellogg, principal, will have charge of the summer school in the Frances E. Willard building, North Main street, for the six weeks following the close of school. After that he will tour the northern part of California and Washington and Oregon.

Mrs. Edith W. Thatcher, vice principal, will spend the summer in Oberlin, O., her former home.

Miss Marian Libby, instructor of art, will spend the summer in the east. She will attend a six-weeks' summer session at Columbia university, following which she will visit her parents in Boston.

Will Go To Beach

Lester W. Archer, director of boys' physical education, plans to spend several weeks at Newport Beach as soon as school closes. He will have charge of the supervised playgrounds, maintained by the city and the board of education, for the greater part of the vacation period.

Miss Della Franzen expects to spend some time in Big Bear valley. She will be one of the supervisors in the summer playground work.

Miss Elfreda Biggin, English department, is going east for the summer, visiting friends in Ohio and Michigan.

Miss Ruth Mueller will leave for Chicago as soon as the school closes. She will visit her parents there.

Ralph Raitt, mathematics, will assist in the management of Raitt's Dairy, this city.

Miss L. Reuter plans an extended trip throughout the northern part of the state.

W. P. Read, arithmetic, general science and vocations, will be on his ranch, near Santa Ana, part of the time. He also expects to attend summer school and later go on a camping trip.

To Remain Here

Robert G. Horn, mechanical drawing, expects to remain in Santa Ana most of the summer.

Miss Dorothea Smith, English department and drama, will take up post graduate work at Stanford university, later making a trip to Seattle.

William M. Bracewell, industrial arts, will be in Santa Ana most of the time, having signed up as one of the playground supervisors.

Miss M. Deborah Elliott, English department, plans a trip to Indiana, thence to the Atlantic seaboard.

Miss Gretchen McClure, business methods and arithmetic, will attend summer school in Los Angeles, to be followed by a sightseeing trip to the north.

Lyle B. Mitchell, history, will take up post graduate work in the southern branch of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

Miss Vanche E. Plumb, librarian,

HARBOR BONDS HELD BOOST TO REALTY VALUES

Proposed harbor improvements, made possible by voting harbor bonds on June 10, will not only stimulate commerce and attract industries, but will boost real estate values throughout the entire county, according to George T. Peabody, manager of the harbor bond election campaign.

In this connection, Peabody added that real estate values are increasing along the coast more rapidly than in any other part of the county, though a marked increase along the coast line is always favorably reflected in other parts of the county.

Illustrating the increase in land values, he cited an instance where a certain lot in Balboa was sold Friday for $5500, which two years ago was quoted at $1400, representing an increase of 600 per cent in two years. Other property, located in the harbor district, comprising four and one-half acres, sold three years ago for $12,500, was disposed of last week at $65,000, showing an increase of 500 per cent in three years.

HORSES, HORSES!

BALTIMORE, June 1.—Putting palamas on a horse and placing him between clean sheets for a good night's rest, was a matter proposed recently to the navy department as a consideration for court-martialing the owner. Capt. Charles M. DeValin, who is accused, declares the animal was sick and the palamas and sheets were only bandages.

WIRELESS BABY

LIVERPOOL, June 1.—Radio brought the advice of a skilled surgeon while a baby was being born on the steamer Nacoya, according to word received here. The child was born two hours after the Nacoya received the requested medical advice from a surgeon aboard the Montclare, and both mother and child were reported to be doing well.

HARRY C. WESTOVER AWARDED TROPHY CUP FOR VICTORY IN HARBOR BOND TALK CONTEST

Harry C. Westover, 1527 East Fourth street, was awarded the Lew Wallace trophy cup as the winner of the three-minute public speaking contest, held last night by the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana chamber of commerce, on the subject, "How Development of Newport County Harbor Will Benefit Orange County." The judges were Wallace, George Peabody and Harry Welch. Ridley Smith was awarded second place.

By HARRY C. WESTOVER

We read in the Scriptures how the people of the earth, who at that time spoke a common language, decided to build a tower that would reach into the heavens. The work was commenced and the tower was raised above the surrounding plains. But the Lord, in order to confound the people, sent down upon them the confusion of tongues, and from that day until the present time the various nations of the earth each have spoken a separate and distinct language. However, during the last few centuries, and more now than ever before in the history of the world, the various nations again have learned to speak in a language that is common to all. And that is the language of commerce.

Every nation has been tied to the four corners of the earth by great lanes of commerce. Commerce has stretched its greedy hands into the hearts of every country. Destroy the great lanes of commerce and you surely will destroy the great cities also. Gone is the time, never to return, when a people of a nation can live sufficient unto itself alone.

Mother of Commerce

The mother of all commerce is the waters of the earth. The oceans and the seas are the great transportation system of commerce. The bays and harbors, which open into the oceans and the seas, are the great terminal points of commerce. It is as important to have a harbor opening into the sea as it is to have an engine to pull a heavy train. For "they who go down to the sea in ships" must needs have some port to call home.

Name to me a city which has become great among the cities of the world and I will name to you a city which became great because of a great harbor. Name to me a country which has become great among the nations of the earth, and I will name to you a country which is great upon the waters.

But I have heard it said that there is no demand for the harbor at this time; that as the demand develops, the harbor will develop also, and thus it is argued let natural events take their course, and develop the harbor only as the demand develops.

Must Develop Harbor

I say this to you. There was no demand for the automobile until the automobile first was developed. There was no demand for the radio until the radio first was invented and then developed. There never will be a great demand for Newport harbor until Newport harbor first is developed and is able and ready to accommodate the ships from the sea.

Does Orange County desire wealth, industries, an honored position among the communities of the state and nation? If so, develop Newport harbor, and then just as surely as night follows day and day precedes night, the commerce of the world coming in and going out of Newport harbor will bring these things to pass.

7 MOTORISTS IN NARROW ESCAPE

Seven Santa Ana persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury, Sunday afternoon, when an automobile in which they were riding was crowded off the road and plunged eight feet down a canyon, on the road leading from Camp Baldy to Icehouse canyon.

The machine was that of Edward Beaudette, 1036 West Chestnut street, who was driving, and which was occupied by Mrs. Beaudette and daughters, Mildred, Natalie and Celia, and Norman and Katherine Shaw, the latter of Washington and Artesia streets.

According to the story told by members of the party, they were suddenly crowded off the road on a turn, by a car driven by a Los Angeles man, whose name was obtained. The car plunged down the canyon, stopping rightside up, on a huge rock.

Men in the party rescued the women before motorists who witnessed the accident could render aid. The machine, although damaged, was able to return to Santa Ana under its own power.

CHOIR ON STRIKE

LONDON, June 1.—When the vicar of St. John's church, Brierley, Bradford, banned one of the male members of the choir because he had divorced his wife, the whole choir went on strike. The Bishop of Bradford upheld the vicar's ruling.

POLITICIANS OF ORANGE COUNTY WILL ASSEMBLE

Dark Secrets of Past to Be Revealed in Discussion at Rump Convention

Orange county politicians and "citizens" are to assemble in another of the rip-roaring campaign conventions, which have brought fame to the county in the last few years. Friday, 6:30 p. m., St. Ann's Inn—that's the dope.

Announcement of the impending "big doin'" is made by the postal card route and is authorized by a group of men signing themselves as the "Political Party Committee."

Ostensibly, the affair is to be in the nature of a feed and demonstration in behalf of Judge E. J. Marks and Judge Homer Ames, whose appointment to the superior court bench here has not as yet been officially approved by the politicians of the county in a formal rump convention.

According to the announcement, "all of the candidates are to be invited, and they're to be lined up and filled full of hot shots from those who know 'em. Their hides will be hung on the fence. It's to be one of our regular parties."

Based on past performances of Orange county rump conventions, it is assumed that dark political secrets of the past will be revealed, the revelations being particularly with reference to appointees and men who aspire to serve the dear public of Orange county in the various offices that offer real emolument and not simply honor.

"It's goin' to be good," say the knowing ones, and the knowing ones composing the "Political Party Committee" are T. L. McFadden, H. C. Head, L. A. West, G. K. Scovel, Albert Launer, W. O. Hart, E. R. Larter, H. J. Forgy, E. B. Collier, N. T. Edwards, W. B. Williams and T. E. Stephenson.

PLANS FOR COUNTY PICNIC COMPLETED

Plans were completed today for a mammoth Orange county picnic and celebration, to be held at the head of Newport bay Saturday afternoon, June 5. Music and speaking will be enjoyed, while a huge bonfire will keep everybody warm.

According to announcement, made by Asa Reed, chairman of the arrangements committee, coffee will be served free of charge, but everyone must bring their own food.

The land around the head of the bay, which is a portion of Santa Ana Heights, is ideal for such an affair, as it affords a fine view of the water, which thousands of Orange county persons never have seen. At this spot the bay is nearly a mile wide and, when dredged, will afford anchorage for hundreds of craft of all kinds.

The road leading to the upper part of Newport bay will be properly signed to make it easy for motorists to find their way to the picnic grounds.

Present plans provide for the picnic dinner to be served at 6:30. Shortly after, a prominent speaker will make a short talk on the harbor.

LYMAN M. KING WILL DELIVER ADDRESS HERE

Returning from a campaign journey that took him the length and breadth of California, Lyman M. King, former state senator of Redlands, is due to reach Santa Ana this afternoon in order that he may be present tonight to deliver an address at the gathering of members of the First Christian church, in celebration of the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of that church.

Senator King is well known among newspapermen throughout the state and among Odd Fellows, having served as grand master of that order before he was selected as state senator, representing San Bernardino and Inyo counties. In Sacramento, he attained leadership, and was placed upon the most important committees of the senate. As chairman of the finance committee, he secured an insight into state finances that quickly made him an authority on that subject. He became best known throughout the state as the author of the King tax bill, which was drawn up by him and put through in spite of strenuous opposition on the part of corporation interests. King believed the bill to be fair to the corporations and necessary in order to prevent unfair taxation of the smaller taxpayers of the state.

Senator King was extended an invitation to be the speaker at the anniversary meeting of the First Christian church tonight. At the meeting tonight, Senator King will be introduced by W. B. Williams.

7 ARE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Seven persons were injured, none seriously, when two cars collided on the Long Beach road, three miles west of Westminster, Sunday night, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

The injured are S. Itow, Mrs. S. Itow, Mrs. Munemura, K. Sumakoda, Shiori Munemura, Mitsuo Munemura and Hatsu Munemura, all of Los Angeles. They were taken to the Garden Grove hospital, where they were given medical attention.

According to a report filed by C. Y. Nakamura, 1430 Gilead avenue, Los Angeles, driver of the machine in which the injured persons were riding, an automobile driven by A. H. Heying, 1105 West Center street, Anaheim, collided with Nakamura's machine, head-on, after it struck another car, in line of traffic, in front of him. The third machine in the accident was said to be owned by Pete Carriosa, and was driven by J. Torres, 1105 East P street, Wilmington.

According to a report of the accident, filed by Heying, his steering gear was broken in the collision with the first car, which caused him to collide with the Nakamura machine.

No one was reported injured in either of the other machines.

CONVICT'S PUZZLE EASY FOR GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—San Quentin penitentiary, where university extension courses are among the pastimes of the prisoners, has developed a cross word puzzle genius. The word genius is used advisedly, for the puzzle this prisoner sent to Governor Richardson's office had the governor and his whole office force stumped for three days, and the governor has few equals among cross word puzzlers. When a solution finally was completed today, someone suggested putting the author of the puzzle into solitary confinement over the weekend, but this was quickly vetoed by the governor, who instead sent the brain-twister back to its anonymous inventor with the marginal note: "Think up a hard one. E. W. R."

Daughters Of South To Honor Soldier Dead

Daughters of the Confederacy will hold memorial services for dead Confederate veterans Thursday morning. Members will meet in Birch park, at 9:30 o'clock, bringing with them as many flowers as they can gather.

From there, the company will go to the cemetery, where services will be held. C. E. Martin will officiate. On returning to Birch park, members and all southerners who are interested will hold a basket picnic, which will be served at 12:30 o'clock, when the Rev. Moffett Rhodes will say grace and Mr. Proctor will give the address.

U. S. TAXIS IN JAPAN

TOKIO, June 1.—The jirikisha is rapidly disappearing from the streets of Japan, and in its place has come the American-made taxicab. S. Midrushima, of Tokio, operates 200 taxis that were made in America, and he recently ordered 100 more from a Chicago manufacturer. A few years ago there were 10,000 "rickshas" operating in Japan. Today there are only about 2000.

MEMORIAL DAY TALK IN BIRCH PARK MADE BY REV. ROBERTS

Efforts to Unify Nations To Prevent War Called Duty of All Americans

UNSELFISHNESS IS NEED OF COUNTRY

Speaker Tells Listeners That Honor Means More Than Annual Ceremony

Participation in world affairs and efforts to unify the nations in a common cause to prevent war in the future was declared the duty of America by the Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the closing remarks of the memorial address which he delivered yesterday afternoon in Birch park, as part of the afternoon observance of Decoration day.

"May God guide us and spare us from becoming 'little Americans,'" he said, in concluding a declaration that history is in the making and that "we need the spirit of unselfishness once more so that we shall be written into, not written out of, the struggles of the world to find its better and saner self."

Momentous Times

He declared these to be momentous times and pointed out that the world is trying to get together counsellors seeking a common ground for the settlement of world problems.

"To say, 'My country,' means to help the promotion of the unselfish aims of America toward the world," the divine said. "We are celebrating unselfishness today. Those whom we assemble to honor gave all to gain nothing except the highest ends of their nation's welfare."

Leading up to his final declarations, the Rev. Mr. Roberts said, in part:

"We observe Memorial day because we desire to honor those who have served the land we love and have gone to their last earthly resting place, to await the reveille of the morning of eternity."

"It is fitting that we should pay this honor. May the day never come when we permit our worthy dead to pass into the fields of forgotten men, unheralded and unsung."

"Let us remember that 'honor' means more than a bit of annual ceremony. What we do here today is of value only as it represents the abiding sentiment of our souls and expresses the principles of our living. To fittingly make the departed heroes is to be able to say, with the same measure of truth as they could say, 'my country.'"

Nation Dear To Us

"What does it mean to say in truth, 'My country?' It means that the nation is dear to us. That is more than a mere matter of birth. Many, whose native soil is some other land, regard America as dearly as life itself, while some, who were born here, never really have caught the spirit of the native land. They are, in a true sense, alien. Let those of us who were cradled here be sure we are 100 per cent American in fact. Let it be no blatant boast to taunt those who did not have the same good fortune. Let us not say so much about our ancestors, but let us give the same full measure of devotion they gave."

"To say, 'my country,' means also that we are willing to give the same sort of service as did those in whose memory we meet today."

WOMAN EIGHT FEET TALL IS STILL GROWING

LONDON, June 1.—A girl who lacks only one inch of being eight feet tall and is still growing, Miss Kaatje Vandyke, already the world's tallest woman, has hopes of additional feet. She lives in an English country village, but was born in Holland a little less than 20 years ago. She is happy, for she has recently been betrothed to a countryman of hers who is even taller than she.

Jan van Albert is the name of her fiancé. Eight feet tall, he can light his cigarette at any ordinary street lamp and the sight of him in the act of doing this in London usually causes something like a riot of the curious.

Will Never Be Sideshow Freak One thing this astonishing couple has decided on is that they never will yield to the temptation of high salaries to appear as side-show freaks. In other matters than their height they are normal young people and they have no wish to pass their lives sitting on circus platforms or parading around rings while the great crowds exclaim in astonishment.

The prospective bride is well proportioned. Her comparative measurements are what they should be in every respect. She is as strong as she ought to be, also. Jan is not quite as heavy as his fiancée, who weighs just 25 stone. Inasmuch as a "stone" is 14 pounds, this means that in the United States she would be described as weighing 350 pounds—almost a sixth of a ton.

The young and mighty couple will need to earn much money in the days to come if they are to spread a plentiful table. A meal for Miss Vandyke is an appalling sight and she eats five of them each day. She denies (but laughingly) that she consumes six duck eggs and a pound and a half of her fiancée, but admits that she is a heavy eater, and that she gets hungry after every meal much more quickly than most people. She admits that at each of her five meals she eats more than the ordinary person requires at each of the usual three.

Is Fond of Music She is fond of music, plays several instruments, including the piano, and has the ambition to become a proficient performer on the bagpipes, although she finds this so hard that she almost despairs. She has no Scotch blood in her veins, so this obsession is difficult to explain. Her one quarrel with fate is that it costs her such a lot to dress. Each new gown takes nearly nine yards of cloth. Between her 13th birthday, when she first began to grow with unusual rapidity, and the end of her 15th year, her dresses had to be lengthened every month or new ones supplied. It was impossible for her to attend a public school because the seats would not accommodate her.

Naturally she has to have chairs made for her. When she stays at a hotel she has to take a room with two double beds in it, put the two together and then lie cornerwise of the combination. Her fiancé is as much in England as she is in Holland, and also has avoided making a freak of himself. He was deemed ineligible for military service during the war, but not on the grounds of ill health, for he never has had a sick day in his life.

Stage and Screen

YOST THEATER
The real test of a beautiful actress lies, perhaps, in her ability to be both lovely and unattractive. In accordance with the quality of the role she interprets, and when Helene Chadwick was seen as the plain, unprepossessing heroine of "The Dark Swan," movie fans gazed at this hitherto unknown disguise of the Helene they knew, but they have still more occasion to explain now at the brilliantly gowned, startlingly exotic Helene that queens it so royally in "The Woman Hater," the new picture that will be featured at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow.

Whereas it was the charm of her personality rather than the attraction of her physical self that was predominant in "The Dark Swan," she is the embodiment of alluring womanhood in "The Woman Hater," and contrary to the intense repression she expressed in the one picture, her characterization of a Parisian actress is a delightful departure from anything she has ever done.

She is vivacity itself! She has unloosed her vibrant love of life and given it wings in "The Woman Hater." Her personality has undergone a startling change and in the colorful settings of Paris and New York it gleams with the fire of a diamond in the sun, giving motion picture audiences another example of what an actress can do when a role is big enough emotionally and dramatically.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, June 1.—After an exceptionally peaceful session of congress—with insurgency squelched, Republican and Democrats working in harmony and everything as lovely as you please—adjournment approaches with a regular hubbub going on.

Bill Vane's defeat of George Wharton Pepper and Gifford Pinchot for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania set the whole outfit by the ears.

True, it was only a state fight, but maybe it was indicative. Maybe conclusions can be drawn from its outcome that will apply in other states, too. In fact, that's what the politicians rather think, but the situation's so mixed that they don't know just what the conclusions are.

For one thing, it's the first bad break in the Coolidge luck.

Everybody knows the administration was pro-Pepper for all it was worth. And he got licked. A kick in the pants for a Republican administration from the most Republican of all Republican states.

If President Coolidge can't control Pennsylvania, what state can he control?

There's nothing sure about luck except that it's bound to change, the gamblers say. Has Cal? He's had a phenomenal run of the dandiest kind. If it's turned, he's liable to be due for a run in the opposite direction that'll last him a long time.

It's no secret that President Coolidge never has been popular with the Republican congressional old guard.

The old guard wanted to run things and the president wanted to run them and the president has come closer to doing it than the old guard has. It made the old guard sore.

The old guard couldn't do anything about it, however, so long as it remained evident that the bulk of the party was pro-Coolidge and that it was pro-Old Guard—so long as the Coolidge luck stayed good. But if it really has changed—oh, my!

Of course, the Democrats in congress are dead willing to see a Republican president and a Republican old guard in a scrap. In Republican disunion is Democratic strength.

But in another way the Vane victory in Pennsylvania isn't so nice for the Democrats. It accentuates an issue which, because they themselves are so badly split on it, they'd much rather keep hushed up—the prohibition issue.

As all the world knows, Vane's platform consists of wine and beer planks and nothing else.

Naturally, his victory is very heartening to the wets. It will stimulate their efforts to spread the issue to other states. The Republicans are afraid of it, too, but it's death and destruction to Democrats.

To be sure, the dries point out that Pepper and Pinchot, both dries, got more votes, between them, than Vane, so they argue that Pennsylvania went dry.

WEST COAST WALKER.

Beautiful scenes, daring and gorgeous costumes, gripping mystery and a sensational denouement—plus Mae Murray—this is the formula for one of the smashing successes of the screen year. It is "The Masked Bride," Mae Murray's startling new picture of Paris life and an underworld plot, closing at the W. C. W. theater tonight.

Christy Cabanne, who directed the new feature, has given the screen public a story that transforms Mae Murray literally into a different creature. She is a radiant personality; a flashing butterfly in a swirl of frivolity; then, suddenly, as danger threatens the man she loves, the mask drops, and from the tinsel emerges a woman ready to sacrifice her own life in the fight for her lover's happiness.

It is a dramatic theme as big as the settings in which it is played—for it is staged on a scale approaching the spectacular. Gorgeous Parisian cafes—where laughter rules—even though hearts may be seething in rage under the disguise of gaiety; strange underworld haunts where the scum of Paris gathers, pathetically eager to be happy despite environment or danger—these are the stages for the remarkable drama.

MAKE ESTIMATE ON WHEAT CROP

TOPEKA, Kas., June 1.—The wheat yield for 1926 in 11 states from Illinois to California will total 340,500,000 bushels, as compared with 322,738,000 bushels last year, according to estimates compiled today by J. P. Jarrell, head of the agricultural department of the Santa Fe railway.

Jarrell based his estimates on telegraphic reports of crop conditions. The forecast is a conservative one, according to Jarrell.

Kansas will produce at least 125,000,000 bushels of wheat this year according to all indications, and Oklahoma's yield will be around 80,000,000 bushels or perhaps more. Illinois, Iowa and Missouri will have less than normal wheat crops, due to abandoned acreage of winter-killed, Jarrell said.

Estimates in bushels for other states follow: Nebraska, 80,000,000; Illinois, 80,000,000; Texas, 25,500,000; Missouri, 15,000,000; Colorado, 18,000,000; California, 14,500,000; Iowa, 7,500,000; New Mexico, 4,000,000; Arizona, 1,000,000.

The corn crop should be average, granted there is reasonable weather for the growing period, Jarrell said. Replanting in Illinois, Iowa and northern Missouri was necessitated by a backward spring. The livestock and poultry outlook throughout the southwest is increasingly optimistic, Jarrell said.

MOUNTAIN MOVES

PARIS, June 1.—Observations recorded by the topographical bureau of Switzerland show that Mount Arbin, a 5500-foot peak, is moving at the rate of about four inches a year. Forty years ago the summit of the mountain was shifting horizontally at the rate of an inch a year. It is thought that the plateau on the summit has become dangerously undermined.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

ETERNAL CHASE AFTER SUN BY EARTH TRACED

PARIS, June 1.—In a recent article in Le Petit Journal, the celebrated scientist, Abbe Th. Moreux, director of the Observatory of Bourges, discussed, under the title "Whither Are We Going?" the voyage of the earth through the stellar spaces. He said:

"I beg my readers not to be frightened. This article has nothing to do with politics or the fate of the franc. These considerations have little place in the ensemble of our universe, in which we are represented materially only by a little grain of sand, the earth, which has carried with it for centuries peoples, kingdoms, republics and empires.

Earth Drawn by Sun
"Whither are we going? I mean toward what regions of the sky is our frail bark bearing humanity? Undoubtedly we revolve about the sun in a year at the average rate of 30 kilometers a second, but we never pass the same place. Why? Because our sun itself draws us in its train, along with the other planets that form the solar system.

"The problem is complicated enough. It was first attacked by Herschel in 1783. To appreciate its difficulty, let us make a comparison. When a train is moving rapidly a spectator at the rear of the last car sees the telegraph poles flying in the opposite direction. All objects along the track seem to be rushing toward a point on the horizon opposed to that toward which he is going. It is a well-known effect of perspective.

Sun Drawing Us Toward Hercules
"Figuring on the displacements of seven stars judiciously chosen, Herschel concluded that our sun was drawing us toward a point in the constellation of Hercules at the rate of five kilometers a second.

"Lacking sufficient data, Herschel announced a wrong result. But popularizers of science do not look closely into such matters and for more than a century his conclusions were printed in nearly all the popular astronomical and cosmographical used in schools and colleges.

"Nevertheless we know today that the point toward which we are advancing, the goal toward which the sun is moving, its apex, as the astronomers say, is to be found a little below Vega in the constellation of the Lyre. Our flight toward these far off regions is at the rate of about twenty kilometers a second.

Faster Than Herschel Thought
"That rate is much faster than Herschel thought, but it is much lower than the speed of most of the stars, which made Newcomb say that we were borne in a small-like train."

"But the savants are never satisfied. They do not ignore the fact the sun is a part of a vast ensemble including some billions of stars, incandescent or extinct. The whole forms our universe, represented by the Milky Way.

"Now it appears more and more probable that outside this universe which we inhabit other Milky Ways exist. These are the nebulous spirals whose movements attain sometimes a velocity of 1000 to 1200 kilometers a second. These paradoxical figures are furnished by the spectroscopic, and the question still remains whether certain causes do not intervene here to falsify our calculations. The debate is of importance and is far from being closed.

Years on Calculations
"Let us admit hypothetically that these crude figures conform to the reality. In that case we can solve in this connection a problem analogous to that which Herschel set himself with regard to the solar system. It would not only be necessary to admit a displacement of our entire universe, but in tabulating the speeds of the nebulae we should be at the same time fixing the direction and the rate of our speed. The 650 and it may be 1000 miles away. Every boy and every man who goes hunting in the United States and who wants to hunt anything that there is to hunt must come down and pay his dollar to establish a game preserve that is probably hundreds of miles from his home.

Dividend Declared
BY BOND COMPANY

The Orange County Bond and Mortgage corporation on July 5 will distribute to Orange county investors holding stock in the corporation, the sum of $35,000, it was announced today by M. Norins, manager.

The distribution will be made on authorization of the board of directors, made at the meeting held this morning, and will be the sixth semi-annual dividend declared by the organization.

Owners of preferred stock will receive checks for dividends on the basis of four and one-half per cent for the half year period and holders of common stock will receive a distribution of four per cent for the first six months of this year.

According to Norins, the company has been successful in its operations here and daily is increasing its assets and its service to clients.

MEADOWS FOR DAISY
LONDON, June 1.—For 12 years straight, Daisy won the prize in the annual London van-horse parade. Now she is retired and will spend the rest of her days in green meadows. The veteran horse is 35 years old.

SPY CHARGES ARE HURLED BY SENATOR REED IN ATTACK ON PROPOSED FEDERAL BIRD BILL

WASHINGTON, May 31.—A ripping attack on the modern trend of legislation to "create a lot of spies, regulators and other variety of human scum and to turn them loose on the people of the United States," was delivered by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, during the senate's consideration of the migratory bird refuge bill. This bill would create a force of federal game wardens and should be named, Reed said, "a bill to raise a large sum of money annually to hire some additional government sneaks and to interfere with the rights and privileges of the states to regulate their own business and their own affairs."

Reed's attack on this bill was considered the most interpretative of any delivered in the senate during the present session. He said: "What business does the government have with the question of the killing of a wild duck that was hatched in Kansas and raised on a Kansas farm and killed by a Kansas boy? Under what clause of the constitution did it get any right to say that a jaybird that picks up a grubworm in the state of Kansas and flies across to the state of Missouri and swallows the worm is engaged in interstate commerce?"

Reputed by Court
"Of course, the supreme court takes back all these doctrines when it is confronted by an important proposition. It is said that, if a man and a woman crossed the state line on a street car and got into a state and do something wrong, they should be punished because they were violating interstate commerce; but when congress enacts a statute that provides that, if some employers hired little children to make goods in a state, made for the purpose of being shipped into another state, that it should be prohibited, the supreme court promptly says that that was an undue extension of the principles of interstate commerce. I am a great defender of courts, but I do not think courts are infallible. Two or three times the supreme court has held that that which is manufactured for the purpose of commerce and sent in interstate commerce can not be controlled at the source of its creation; but if a bluejay perches himself on top of a bit of Kansas alfalfa and then flies over into Missouri, he is an interstate commerce agency, if not an interstate commerce commission.

The blue jay may have been hatched in Kansas and never got outside the state; and if he is killed in the nest where he was hatched, it is interstate commerce.

Commission Of Rovers
"Now, what is the bill that we are asked to consider? The present law exists and now it is proposed to appoint a commission, a roving sort of commission, with two senators on it, expenses paid, and with the secretary of agriculture, the postmaster general, and two members of the house. These gentlemen will constitute a roving commission to go around and inspect swamps and out-of-the-way places and pick out the particular spots where birds like to hibernate or nest, and the probabilities are that the men selected would not know a woodcock from a mallard duck, much less where they would want to light or where they would best multiply. After they had picked out the places where the birds are requested to come and nest, and lay their eggs and hatch, what happens? We then proceed to provide that every boy who lives out in the country and who sees one of these birds—not one that is going into the reserve but any one of them—flying about or lighting in the preserve, and who takes a shot at one of them can be dragged before a federal court and fined and imprisoned unless he had taken out a license. It is true he can shoot on his father's own farm, but he can not invite his chum from town to shoot with him or the chum will go to jail, and probably the farmer's boy would go, for they would probably both be indicted under the law of conspiracy that is now so generously used in this country.

Dollar and Game Preserve
"What are they going to do with this dollar that they collect from the boy? The commission is going to establish somewhere, some place, a game preserve. It may be 100 and it may be 500 and it may be 1000 miles away. Every boy and every man who goes hunting in the United States and who wants to hunt anything that there is to hunt must come down and pay his dollar to establish a game preserve that is probably hundreds of miles from his home.

"Now, who is for the bill? I know who is for it because they have been to see me, and if they have been to see me, of course, they have been to see all the important members of this body, for they see the most unimportant they must have seen the important. The Audubon society: The Audubon society is composed almost exclusively of the aristocracy of the hunters. They are the chaps who own private hunting grounds. They are the gentlemen who are already fixed. They keep everybody off their preserves where they go to hunt. They now want the government to buy a nesting place, a place where the birds hatch, so that when they are hatched and can fly and come across the country and within the range of these aristocratic guns aimed in their direction from a private lodge in a private reserve, these gentlemen will have something to shoot at. They want the farmer's boy and the town boy, who gets an old muzzle-loader, to pay for the establishment of the places where the birds are to hatch. I repeat, they are the aristocracy of the sports.

WOMAN COULD NOT SLEEP
Her Mother-in-Law Knew A Remedy

Mrs. Belle Thompson, of Georgia, was in a very weak and run-down condition for four years. She had great difficulty in getting to sleep at night and even then did not sleep soundly. She would wake up again and again. Besides this her appetite was poor. "My mother-in-law told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was not the same woman at all. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children and always after the babies came I had to take treatments, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does me more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS
In answering blind addresses (for instance, Box 123, or other similar addresses), please be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write address plainly. Letters brought to the Register office do not receive stamps. Always include your answer in sealed envelope.
T. F. (TILL) FORBID AD
If an advertiser has made application for credit and opened an account with The Register Credit department in the regular form, he has no "line" advertisement published continuously so by signing a "T.F." order to that effect. An advertisement thus begun will appear regularly until countermanded by written order.
BOX OFFICE RELIES
The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons with answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards which must be presented at the Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not sent out except on presentation of box card.
No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using the Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied. A charge is made for the words "Box A-234, care The Register."

S. A. GOLF TOURNEY QUALIFYING COMPLETED

BILLY EVANS

FIGHTING SPIRIT

Ty Cobb broke into the American league in 1905. He is the oldest active ball player in the league as to service and years.

Recently in discussing the failure of several highly touted phenoms to deliver, I asked Ty Cobb how he sized up the game of 20 years ago with the 1926 vintage.

"It's better in some ways, perhaps not so good in others. It's an entirely different style but the fans like it and that is all that is necessary."

"The hitting for several years has dominated the game and with that condition existing inside baseball has suffered."

When I asked him if there was any feature of play in which he noted a decided difference, he answered thusly, almost before I had finished my question:

"There was more fight in the old days. A majority of the players were more aggressive and this made for keener competition."

I must agree with Ty on that angle, but have no solution to offer for such a condition.

MASTER PITCHER

Grover Cleveland Alexander has lost some of the "zip" on the fast ball that once made him the greatest rival of Walter Johnson but he is still some pitcher.

Ordinarily when I have an off day the ball park is one place I shun. I was in Chicago recently with the afternoon off and the Cubs were scheduled to play the Cardinals.

I really had no intention of going to the ball game until I learned that Alexander was slated to pitch. I hadn't seen him in action since the 1915 world series between the Philadelphia Nationals and Boston Red Sox, in which I was one of the umpires.

BIG ATTRACTION

At that time Alexander was at the height of his career. He had everything, including a side-arm fast ball that fairly whistled as it sped to the plate.

Incidentally, there was the great Rogers Hornsby as an extra incentive to take in the game. Here was the champion batsman arrayed against the old master. Some attraction.

It didn't take but a few balls to convince me that the good old right arm of Alexander had suffered from the wear and tear of many hard seasons. There was a bit of effort rather than smoothness to his delivery but it was easy to see that he was still a master pitcher.

He won his game, 3-2, and gave a fine exhibition of pitching in which his brain served to better purpose than his arm.

SLOW BALL ASSET

Discussing pitching with Alexander and the changes that have crept into the game since he made his debut 15 years back, he remarked:

"The lively ball has made quite a difference in the art of pitching. I might say the lively ball made a slow ball a necessary part of every pitcher's repertoire."

"The fast one and the curve is all I used for years and was pretty successful but when they slipped the 'lively' ball into the game I was forced to develop a slow one."

"The slow ball cuts down the power of the batter because it has a tendency to upset him, keep him off his stride, prevents him from getting a toe-hold, because he is never quite certain when the pitcher is going to slip over a change of pace."

"The batsman need only meet a fast ball to get distance; the speed of the ball helps supply the power. On the other hand, when the batter swings at a slow one, all the impetus must come from the swing."

"No youngster can now hope for success as a pitcher unless he has a slow ball. That feature is the most drastic change that has taken place in pitching."

Rogers Hornsby, star batsman and manager of the Cardinals, who has just been presented with the National league prize as the most valuable player of last season, has now been a major leaguer for a dozen years, and during all that time he has been a member of the St. Louis team.

HUGH SMITH IS LOW WITH 79 ROBINSON NEXT

Forty-Nine Players to Be In Club Championships: 32 Put in First Flight

Qualifying rounds for the Santa Ana Country club's second annual club golf championships were completed at the local course yesterday, a total of 49 members filling cards for the big tournament which will get under way this week.

Hugh Smith shot a fine 79 to be low for the entire field. Hewas just one stroke better than L. H. Robinson who checked in with an 80. Hugh Shields, Mark B. Lacy and Dr. G. C. Ross tied for third low, all having 82's.

The low 32 players will compose the first flight and these will play through the tournament without handicaps. The remainder of the field will be grouped in the second flight and will be allowed their regular club handicaps.

Semi-final and final rounds in the first flight will be contested over 36 holes while second flighters will play their semi-finals over 18 holes and their finals over 36 holes.

RAY BRESSLER

Much of Cincinnati's early season success has been due to the timely hitting of Ray Bressler. The big fellow has been clouting the agate with remarkable consistency ever since the opening gong rang. The first five weeks of the chase finds him right up with the leaders, batting close to .400.

Indoor Players Resume Pennant Battle Tonight

Their Memorial Day vacation over, Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league players will resume their championship grind at Lincoln park tonight with some of the most attractive conflicts of the season scheduled for the week.

The Fluor Construction company meets the climbing peak market club tonight. Lee's Fountain and the Southern Counties Gas company teams mingle tomorrow. The Excellency Creamery company and the Tiernan Typewriter company clash Thursday.

What change has been made in the rule relative to a glove being hurled at a batted or thrown ball?

The ball, of course, must come into contact with the batted or thrown ball for the rule to be operative.

If such is the case, the runner or runner as in the past, shall be entitled to three bases if a batted ball and two if a thrown ball.

Now for the change in the rule made last year; aside from the runner being entitled to the above he may advance further at his own risk.

I doubt if this is a good change. In a sense the rule makes the ball dead and yet makes it in play again after the runners have advanced to the bases to which they are entitled. It strikes me that definitely making it two bases on a thrown ball and three on a batted ball was a better rule and a sufficient penalty for the offense.

SAN FRANCISCO—With a record of 13 victories and only two defeats, "Big Jim" Elliott, giant Seattle southpaw, is still leading Pacific Coast league pitchers. His average is .351.

SAN FRANCISCO—Evar Swanson, Mission outfielder who was "beaten" by a pitched ball in the fifth inning of yesterday morning's game with the Seals, will be out of the game a week as a result, physicians declared today.

ENGLAND READY FOR HISTORIC DERBY RUNNING

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 1.—All roads lead to Epsom Downs today.

The annual trek to the historic English Derby, which will be run tomorrow, has begun.

For some of the derby fans, the classic will mean a 29 or 30 mile walk. But that is no handicap. A British subject must see the derby at all costs.

To avoid the traditional crush which annually jams the roads from London and other cities to Epsom Downs, more automobiles than usual were driven to the race course today.

The railways were doing their best to care for the multitude of derby enthusiasts, but as a result of the meager coal supply they were unable to run enough trains to fill the demand.

An American department store here plans to use old fashioned stage coaches to transport some of its patrons. All horse drawn vehicles are forced to take separate road, so that motor cars and trucks will not be hampered more than is necessary. Arrangements have been made for parking 75,000 vehicles.

Seldom has a derby entrant become such a favorite before the race as has Lord Derby's Colorado, which will be ridden by T. Weston. The odds on the three-year-old son of Phalaris-Canyon are quoted at 3 to 2 against. Cornach is next at 7 to 1 and then follow Swift and Sure at 9 to 1, Bex at 10 to 1; Applesnap, 15 to 1; Filaglas, 23 to 1; Harpagon, 25 to 1; Chimes, 28 to 1; Macanudo, 33 to 1 and Comedy King, 40 to 1.

Other probable starters, all "long shots" are Bassoon, Lance Gaye, Legres, Pantera, Review Order, St. Mary's Kirk, Simon the Beggar, Tenacity and War Mist. Lancaster and Lulworth Cove have been scratched and Lord Glanely's Gat Lothario was scratched today bringing the field down to 19.

Diamond Disputes Decided

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—Howard Ehmke, Red Sox hurler, whose double broke down a pitching duel with "Lefty" Grove, enabling Boston to win from Philadelphia, 2 to 6. The Athletics came back in the second game, however, and won 8 to 2.

The Cubs and the Cardinals shared the Memorial Day double-header, Chicago dropping the first, 5 to 3, and taking the afternoon, 3 to 7.

The Tigers and the Browns divided honors in a double header. The Tigers won the first, 16 to 1, and lost the twilight battle, which went only seven innings, because of darkness, 9 to 7.

Nineteen hits were gathered by the Giants, who defeated Philadelphia, 12 to 1. Andy Cohen, recruit shortstop, played his first game for New York and tapped out a single in his only time at bat. One of the field plays was scored as "Cohen to Kelly."

HAROLD ("RED") GRANGE

The most celebrated player in the history of American football—"Red" Grange—will be the guest of honor at the meeting next Monday night of the junior division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. The former Illinois "red wrath," now making a movie in Los Angeles, will be accompanied here by his equally famous manager, C. C. Pyle. Both Grange and Pyle have promised to speak. The meeting will be held at St. Ann's Inn.

'RED' GRANGE, MOST FAMOUS OF ALL FOOTBALL STARS, TO ADDRESS SANTA ANA C. OF C.

Who are the three biggest figures in the world of professional sports? Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth and "Red" Grange probably fill the bill.

Dempsey is in the east "practicing for his next big fight." Babe Ruth is cracking out homers for the New York Yankees. And "Red" Grange—well, sure, "Red" Grange will be the main attraction at the meeting Monday evening June 7, at St. Ann's Inn of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce!

When the president of the junior division, Mason Yould, sent Bob Fernandez out for talent for the next de luxe program of the organization he told the diminutive typewriter agent to go loaded for big game.

And Fernandez came back with plenty of gigantic stuff.

In addition to the world's famous ice man, the affable C. C. Pyle, manager for the "phantom of the gridiron," will be among those around the groning board.

Publicizer Coming Too Pyle will bring with him the w.k. W. H. Pickens, negotiator par excellence in the matter of arranging for the public exhibition of athletes.

In the words of the sport lover, each and everyone of these gentlemen is a card.

Grange will speak briefly concerning his colorful conquests on the gridiron.

Pyle will reveal intimate details of his protegee which Grange is too bashful to tell.

And as for Pickens, leave that to Pickens! Grange, according to a letter received by the entertainment committee from his manager, will soon complete his motion picture work and depart for Wheaton, Ill., to resume the ice business where he left off last summer.

He has consented to appear before only a very limited number of organizations in Southern California and the junior division of the Santa Ana chamber is one of the very few.

1926 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE HAS 5 MAJOR TILTS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—With the opening of the 1926 football season still four months away, fans on the Pacific Coast are already looking forward to five great games among the conference universities, every one of which will probably come under the time-worn classification of "crossial."

These five contests will feature what are now considered the four leading contenders for the conference title—Stanford, U. S. C., Washington, and California—and will be played as follows: Stanford vs. U. S. C., at Los Angeles, October 30; California vs. U. S. C., at Berkeley, October 23; California vs. Washington at Seattle, November 6; Stanford vs. Washington at Stanford, November 13; Stanford vs. California at Berkeley, November 20.

Should Settle Title

Barring unexpected upsets, these five games should determine the winner of the championship and speculation now as to the eventual victor can be little more than guesswork. Just at a glance, the Trojans of the University of Southern California, with practically a veteran team and several outstanding players from last year's freshman aggregation, look the strongest of the lot.

The Southerners were defeated by Stanford and W. S. C. last year and finished in third place in the conference race, behind Washington and Stanford. With Howard Jones in his second year at the Trojan institution and the largest number of veterans of any of the "big four" returning in the fall, Southern California looms as the "team to beat."

Stanford, Washington and California were all hard hit by graduation. The Cardinals lost the great Ernie Nevers and their regular quarterback, "Mugs" Mitchell and Fred Solomon. Although "Pop" Warner tried a number of men in these two positions in spring practice, he is still very much undecided as to the successors of Nevers and Mitchell.

Huskies Lose Wilson

Washington lost practically its entire offensive punch with the graduation of Captain Elmer Tesreau, fullback; and George Wilson, halfback, who appeared on practically every All-American team together with Nevers. California lost its two regular halfbacks, Dixon and Captain Imlay, and its regular quarterback, Carlson. Dana Carey, giant Bruin guard, and one of the best linemen on the coast for the past two years, also accepted a diploma.

Stanford and California are playing the hardest schedules in the conference this fall. Both will meet U. S. C. and Washington and they are to end the season in the traditional way by meeting each other in the big game, November 20.

October 23 will mark U. S. C.'s only appearance in this part of the state when the "Thundering Herd" invades the California Memorial stadium in an attempt to crush Blue and Gold hopes for the championship. These two teams always put on a whale of a battle and this year's contest should be no exception.

WINS MOTOR RACE

FRANK LOCKHART

Getting out in front early and maintaining there, Frank Lockhart, 23-year-old Los Angeles pilot, won the annual Indianapolis Speedway automobile race yesterday. He averaged 94.63 miles an hour for 400 miles, the race having been shortened 100 miles because of rain.

Harry Hartz, also of Los Angeles, was second.

LOCKHART WINS INDIANAPOLIS AUTO CLASSIC

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1.—A 23-year-old daredevil from Los Angeles prepared to return to his home in California bearing the highest honors of the motor car racing world—the championship purse of the Indianapolis Sweepstakes race.

The daredevil is young Frank Lockhart, substitute pilot, who yesterday roared home a winner in the 400-mile race at the wheel of a Miller special. He set a terrific pace over the water soaked bricks and averaged 94.63 miles an hour.

The race was ended at the 400-mile point as rain was pelting the track, making every additional turn of the oval more dangerous.

In winning the event yesterday, Lockhart won $29,600. He won the first prize purse of $20,000 and $900 in lap money.

Harry Hartz, driving a Miller, was second, Cliff Woodbury, third, in a Boyle special; Comer, in a Miller was fourth; Peter De Paolo in a Duesenberg was fifth. After that trailed eight other drivers, 15 having dropped out during the 400-mile run.

COLIMA, PHELPS IN VERNON GO TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Bert Colima, Mexican middleweight, returns to his home ring tonight to meet Owen Phelps, Arizona rough-rider, in a 10-round bout.

It will be Colima's first Southern California appearance since he left on his invasion of Mexico which resulted very successfully.

Phelps' greatest claim to fame is the showing he made against Harry Greb when Greb was middleweight champion of the world. If he bowls over Colima tonight he will win recognition as one of the greatest middleweights in the country.

Colima was a slight favorite in the betting today. The Mexican is a veteran of the ring and is favored to outgeneral Phelps.

WALKER CUP MATCH BEGINS TOMORROW

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 1.—Members of the American Walker cup team faced another day of practice golf today in preparation for the team matches with Great Britain's amateurs, which will be played tomorrow and Thursday.

A 72 by Bobby Jones and a 75 by Watts Gunn in practice rounds have encouraged the Americans, who are favored to retain the Walker cup.

Jess Sweetser, the New Yorker who won the British amateur championship Saturday is bothered somewhat by a painful hand injury, but says he will forget about sprains when play begins.

Sweetser does not intend to remain for the British open, the last of the month. He expects to sail for New York Saturday.

Not in many seasons have the National league clubs enjoyed such a sight as the present toboggan ride of the New York Giants.

Harvard is to build a new baseball cage this summer. It will be 160 feet square and thoroughly up to date in every particular.

SALAD DRESSING

1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 Tablespoons Morehouse Mustard

HEAT vinegar and water together in a double boiler, mix salt, sugar, flour and paprika; beat eggs slightly, pour hot liquid over them. Add dry ingredients and Morehouse Mustard; mix well and return to double boiler and stir constantly until mixture becomes creamy. Remove from fire and add butter in small bits, beating well. Pour into bowl and set aside to chill. Before mixing with salad materials, fold in whipped cream. For any variety of vegetable, fish or chicken salad.

NOTE: The success of this recipe depends upon Morehouse Mustard, which has a higher percentage of mustard seed and contains no filler.

AUTONOMY FOR DISTRICT MAY BE AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, June 1.—After 80 years of consideration of the subject of local self-government for the national capital, congress is again studying the subject, apparently with more zeal than usual. Representative Johnson, of Washington, is one of the leaders in the house, urging that congress be relieved of the burden of passing city ordinances and that the district commissioners be given more power to legislate and regulate for the inhabitants of Washington.

Congressman Johnson's idea, as explained on the floor during a heated debate over an amendment to a bill requiring the branding of milk bottles, is to have a larger district commission, with power to adopt ordinances, subject to the veto of congress. He suggested a commission of seven members, three to be appointed by the president and four to be elected by the people of the district.

Johnson predicted that a two-year struggle lay ahead of any bill introduced providing for a self-government for the District of Columbia, in view of which fact he recommended that a commission be appointed to act in the nature of a charter convention to draft a proposal for submission to congress.

"I would like to say that the district is a great sufferer, from the fact that matters have to be settled on the floor of the house," said Johnson, "and members insist on voting for or against district legislation in accordance with the ideas of their voters in their own district, which may be 2000 miles away."

Major Andrew S. Rowan, of San Francisco, who carried the famous McKinley "Message to Garcia" during the Spanish war, would be retired as a major general, with all of the emoluments of that rank, if a bill introduced by Representative Florence P. Kahn is enacted. Senator Copeland, of New York, has introduced the bill in the senate.

Friends of Major Rowan point out that, for his great exploit which meant so much in co-ordinating the work of the Cuban rebels with the American troops in Cuba, he has received scarcely any recognition at all. It was not until a special bill by Senator Shortridge was passed four years ago, that Major Rowan was even given the Distinguished Service Cross. He retired from the army on Dec. 1, 1909, with the rank of major. His friends say that the proverbial ingratitude of republics was never better exemplified than in his case.

Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, made a speech on the floor of the senate on Major Rowan, in December, of last year, in which he recited the great details of Rowan's exploit. Elbert Hubbard, who wrote the famous essay entitled, "The Message to Garcia," estimated that more than 40,000,000 copies had been printed in all written languages.

The lumber cut from 608 large sawmills, scattered throughout the United States, each sawing 5,000,000 feet a year, or more, increased 11 per cent in 1925 over 1924, according to department of commerce statistics, just made public.

The figures do not include all of the lumber cut in the United States, because the smaller mills are not included, but they are believed to show fairly the trend of lumber production.

Washington state still leads both in lumber cut and in the number of large mills. Oregon is second, Louisiana, third, and California, fourth, on both points. All four states show increases in 1925 over last year.

Senator Johnson's bill relieving Collector of Internal Revenue John P. McLaughlin, of San Francisco, of a technical shortage of $2204, has been passed by congress and signed by the president.

The shortage occurred when the treasury department delayed informing Collector McLaughlin of a reduction in pay given certain of his employees, so that McLaughlin continued paying on the old scale. The discrepancy was discovered in due time by the comptroller general.

In previous times, the treasury has been able to wipe out the technical shortage such as this without referring the matter to congress, but in late months the comptroller general has held this to be illegal and that congress is the only agency which can forgive a shortage, even though the disbursing officer is not to blame.

In McLaughlin's case, the shortage was due entirely to the fault of the treasury, as was admitted in the official reports filed in support of the bill.

Damages for Mabel Blanche Rockwell of San Diego, who was shot and seriously injured a year ago by a sentry at Fort Rosecrans, were reduced from $4750 to $2150 by the house, when it passed the Swing bill for the relief of Mrs. Rockwell.

The house claims committee made the reduction on the ground that the government should pay only actual hospital and surgical expenses.

Mrs. Rockwell was in the rear seat of an automobile being driven into the main gate at Fort Rosecrans, when a sentry asserted he shot into the ground and that the bullet must have glanced from the pavement. The war department admitted full liability and recommended favorable action in the bill.

The house has passed the Lea bill, relieving former Postmaster Charles O. Dunbar, of Santa Rosa, of any responsibility for the loss of $2050 in the failure of the Santa Rosa National Bank. The bank was a regular depository for the government, duly established by the treasury, and the treasury and post office departments both held that Dunbar was not responsible for the loss of the funds. The bill was sent to the senate, where Senator Shortridge will endeavor to have it

Road Conditions and Fishing

By the National Automobile Club
Issued May 29

The county road from Pinecrest to Lake Arrowhead has been dragged recently and is in good condition. This means that Waterman Canyon road to Lake Arrowhead is in very good shape, either via right or left at Pinecrest. The Kuffel Canyon road to Rim-of-the-World drive is in fair shape only. Rim-of-the-World drive to City Creek junction is passable, but badly cut up. From Running Spring to Big Bear, road is passable. A three-mile stretch of road between Lake View point and Big Bear dam is in poor shape and much of it is one-way road. Crews are at work, but it will be several weeks before the slides can be removed.

The City Creek road is in fair condition at the present time, with the exception of a few hundred yards above Barrel Springs and is not dangerous at any point to careful drivers.

Considerable travel from Southern California is now going into the new mining camp of Quartz Mountain, Nev. All such travel from Southern California should go via Tonopah, then via direct road to Quartz Mountain, 123 miles.

Every stream in Little Lake district is clear and the fishing is good. In the south fork of the Kern river, Fish creek, Rattlesnake creek and Trout creek, trout are plentiful and are biting good. The best bait is salmon eggs, worms and grasshoppers, while light colored flies are bringing good results.

Bouquet Canyon road is now being worked on. Most of the San Francisco canyon is in fair shape.

Road conditions in the west fork of the San Gabriel canyon have improved so much within the last few days that it is now possible to drive all the way to Camp Rincon. The county crew is working on the road and will continue to do so for some time. There are several water crossings that have not been bridged but these are not bad. Road is narrow in places where there have been lands slides but motorists using care can drive over same without damage to their machines.

Fishing conditions in the district surrounding Bridgeport are fairly good at the present time. Twin lakes are starting in good on spinners trolling, fish average one-half to one pound. Robinson is the only stream where fly is being used successfully. In all other streams and lakes, spinners or bait fishing is best. The big fish in the West Walker river are still running strong, average weight from five to eight pounds. The weather being warm, it is melting the snow fast and all streams are high.

Engineers for the U. S. bureau of public roads are completing plans and specifications preparatory to calling for bids on 36.2 miles of highway to be built along the south rim of the Grand canyon, Arizona. Bids on the project will be called for as soon as congress has appropriated the necessary funds. This will provide a scenic route along the south rim of the canyon connecting the most interesting points along the brink of the canyon.

SOVIET PRESS DISGUSTED AT STRIKE ENDING

RIGA, June 1.—During the general strike in England, Scotland and Wales, the Russian press was very much disappointed, in fact disgusted, at the way the strikers conducted their campaign.

The Pravda devoted a long article to pointing out why the strike failed. According to the Pravda, the British government's strength consisted in knowing what they wanted, while the strikers, not knowing their own minds, tried to conceal the fact that the strike was political from the first moment, and that victory was possible only by Lenin's methods.

Bromley, it says, made a colossal mistake by praising Baldwin's love of peace, coupled with the advice that the strikers should spend their leisure in play and sport. Such leaders, Pravda adds, do not know what they do, and none dared openly admit that the strike was intended to overthrow the British government. The leaders began brilliantly, but lamentably failed to prosecute the struggle.

The article also blames the British communist for omitting to denounce moderation as preached by members of the T. U. C.

RED ATTITUDE STRAINS RELATIONS WITH BRAIN

LONDON, June 1.—Sir Austen Chamberlain revealed in the house of commons that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and soviet Russia have been strained severely by the gloating speeches of leading personalities in the Moscow government during the general strike.

There is the possibility even that England may break off the slender diplomatic threads that still unite her with the soviet government, but the British foreign secretary merely stated in reply to a question that he was awaiting further information regarding the statements on the British strike by Zinovieff, Lovzovsky, Radek and Trotsky before making a decision.

Sir Austen stated he was aware that these Russian politicians had given out interviews that the British strike was political and an important step to a communist revolution. A section of the cabinet considers these statements are a direct breach of the Anglo-Russian treaty, by which both nations undertook to abandon propaganda against their respective governments.

Those members of the British government who consistently have been unfriendly to soviet Russia believe that this is the propitious moment to sever completely the diplomatic ties.

Literally thousands of Californians have protested in writing against the enactment of the proposed Blue Sunday bill in the District of Columbia. Almost every day, some member of the California delegation files with the senate or house a long petition against compulsory observance. While the pending bill covers the District of Columbia only, the writers apparently are afraid that, once the idea got a legal foothold anywhere in the United States, it would spread to other parts.

FILM INTERPRETERS

TOKIO, June 1.—Not all audiences here can read, so there are story tellers in many of the moving picture theaters to interpret the films. Often these interpreters turn comedy to tragedy, their personal views of the picture being mistaken.

WAR RESUMED ON TENNESSEE EVOLUTION LAW

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 1.—A bitter attack on the anti-evolution law was made by Dr. John R. Neal, chief defense counsel, as the appeal of John T. Scopes, convicted of teaching evolution, was heard in the Tennessee supreme court.

A small crowd was in court when counsel for the state and defense, including some of the nation's leading lawyers, appeared.

Dr. Neal introduced visiting counsel, Clarence Darrow, Arthur Garfield Hays and Charles Strong. K. T. McConico, chief of the prosecution, expressed regret that Attorney General Thompson's illness would prevent him from participating and the second chapter of an episode that a few months ago stirred the religious and scientific world, got under way.

Explanation of Appeal
Neal explained briefly the demurrer and appeal filed with the trial, pointing out that only technical questions were involved. His objection to the constitutionality of the evolution law was that it was "too vague, non specific and indefinite."

The second objection was the subject of the act and was not included in the bill's title.

Third, he declared it gave preference by law to religious teaching. Neal claimed the law provided public funds to prosecute individuals for their beliefs and created crime without justification, and was not a proprietary measure.

Arthur Barfield Hayes opened his argument by explaining that science in no way worked upon a person's fear or religious belief.

Calls Law Resentful
Hayes cited the act of the legislature as being "capricious and resentful," and commented on Thompson's work on the constitution of Virginia in setting out religious freedom for that state.

The constitution of the United States was quoted in part and tied up with the Tennessee constitution. He pointed out that proprietary laws must be passed by the legislature, but only within the bounds of police power, and not at all with an idea of prosecuting any religion or belief.

The 14th amendment was cited as giving states only power to make reasonable and just laws against the individual.

Hayes referred to the scientist who was subjected to the inquisition for believing that the earth revolves around the sun.

"It is not criminal to teach those things now, but it was in the Middle Ages."

Former Governor Sees Failure Of Anti-Rum Laws

WICHITA, Kas., June 1.—There are four solutions to the tangles, terrors and treacherous undermining of governmental functioning brought about by Volsteadism, according to Henry J. Allen, former governor and for many years one of the prohibition leaders of this prohibition commonwealth.

In a statement today, in which he discussed the spread of the personal liberty revolt and the growing fight between the wets and the dries, Mr. Allen said:

"I see no hope for the immediate enforcement of the present prohibition laws in the states where public sentiment is against them. It is possible that after a long, hard struggle, for 25 years or more, the Volstead law might be enforced in states like New York; but this can never be accomplished except in a long, hard fight. Maybe not then."

"It is a question whether the government will be willing to carry on such a fight. If not, then there are three alternatives: The government can allow the 18th amendment to be nullified as the 15th amendment was nullified; it can directly turn the enforcement of prohibition back to the states by a repeal of the Volstead law, or it can provide for the sale of intoxicating liquor under government regulation and through government dispensaries."

Lance Carbuncle On Dempsey's Arm

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 1.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, continued to improve today following lancing of a carbuncle on his left arm. The champion suffered a slight attack of malaria Friday, but is expected to be completely recovered within a few days.

Dempsey has lost eight pounds since his indisposition set in, it was said, but today his temperature was reported normal.

Estelle Taylor, Dempsey's wife, is supervising the champion's diet and is closely attending him.

Big Realty Firm In Florida Broke

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 1.—The first of the large real estate developing concerns in Florida has collapsed with the filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the American British Improvement Corporation. The corporation, which listed its liabilities at $8,581,576 and its assets at $2,551,518, had extensive holdings in Florando Club, Florida.

Short Hair Girl Gets Delay In Jail Sentence

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 1.—Governor Fields reserved public expression about his stay of execution for 90 days of the 40-day jail sentence given Miss Martha Bates of Letcher county for slapping a lay preacher who made remarks about bobbed hair to which she objected.

The governor, it is understood, plans to go to Letcher county to make a personal investigation.

Bob-haired girls employed in the state house and some of the state officials have subscribed to a fund to be used for any necessary expenses for litigation in connection with Miss Bates' case.

Miss Bates, in a statement from Whitesburg, today advocated a union for bob-haired women. "Bobbed hair is worn by many in the interest of sanitation and cleanliness," she said.

CAMPUS 'Y' PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Service was the keynote of the plans outlined for the coming year's activities at the Santa Ana Junior college by the campus "Y" students on the week-end retreat to Camp Lewis, above Modjeska's home, closed yesterday.

An extensive program for next year was laid out.

Prominent "Y" secretaries were present to aid the students in their plans. Gale Seaman, regional secretary for the Pacific coast, and Charles Schwieso Jr., of Caltech, attended the retreat.

Among the topics brought up for discussion were aiding in furnishing employment for college students, receiving the incoming freshmen, equipping a "Y" study room for the college men and carrying on deputization and project work.

Seaman speaking to the student group stressed the service motive. He declared that there was no hope "if colleges turn out men intent on piling up worldly wealth."

A move was suggested to unite the campus Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in a joint council more able to cope with college problems.

Many phases of campus life came up for sharp criticism. Irresponsibility, social laxity, and time wasting, were said to be answers to the question, "What's wrong with the college?" A constructive policy directed to remove faults at the junior college, was planned for the coming year.

BANDIT POSES AS STORE CUSTOMER

FRESNO, June 1.—While neighbors in the vicinity sat on their front porches unaware of anything unusual, a bandit, who walked into a store like any customer, while his companion waited outside in an automobile, held up and robbed the A. Frisch grocery store of $35 and a cake, forcing Frisch to lie on the floor. The bandit missed $500, which Frisch had in a hip pocket.

Several hours later, two suspects, who gave their names as James Parker and Roscoe Remyen, of Salt Lake, were arrested in Tulare, by Chief of Police John R. McDonald. Part of the cake and the $35 in change was recovered.

The car which they were driving, believed to have been stolen, is registered to W. L. Ridout, of Alameda.

Rum Drummers Arrested, Seize "Sample Cases"

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—"Traveling salesmen" in the bootlegging industry, equipped with neat "sample cases" in which various kinds of liquor are carried for consideration of prospective customers, present the latest problem of the dry law enforcement agents. Two such alleged "traveling men"—Joseph Jaccipaglia and Emmanuel Tantalio—were arrested in Placer county. Deputy sheriffs announced they had an automobile, a complete sample case, a regular route of customers in Eldorado county, and a "delivery list" indicating that more than 26 gallons of liquor had been disposed of during the day's run.

Sunny Jim Back Again

The famous "Sunny Jim," the same blithe and spritely "Jim," is back again, red coat, cane, jingles and all. In his day, twenty years ago when he sold "FORCE Whole Wheat Flakes" so vigorously, there was no more popular character in the country. His return is being welcomed by hundreds of thousands of his old friends.

And with him comes his newest product, "Sunny Jim BRAN DANDIES." A new bran food of the Hecker H-O company. This cereal is a tasteful combination of bran and wheat cakes—laxative qualities with an unusually pleasant flavor. The flakes are crisp and delicious—a most important feature, for bran to be fully effective, must be eaten regularly and heartily. Sunny Jim BRAN DANDIES are eaten not only as a health precaution, but as a delicious cereal.

SCHOOL NEWS

Julia Lathrop

On Wednesday of the past week Julia Lathrop held a campaign assembly introducing the nominees for offices in the student body. Previous to this meeting campaign conventions were held at which the nominees presented their qualifications and platforms to the assembled delegates representing the green and white parties. As nearly as possible the campaign was carried on exactly as on those of the presidential elections. Campaign managers introduced the members of their party with diplomatic ease and assurance. Lathrop is exceedingly proud of the way in which her election has been carried on and feels that she has material for rising politicians and statesmen in her midst. Here are several of her best efforts along this line:

Helen Rodriguez
The speech of Helen Rodriguez who was running for president on the green party ticket: "I believe in a student body government. I believe that it should be kept up. Therefore I take this opportunity in thanking the members of the convention in giving me this honor of becoming a candidate for the office of president of the Julia C. Lathrop student body."

"Do you know that some of the students think that our school is the most perfect school there is? Of course that is just the kind of spirit that we want to prevail among our students, but I think that it is time to make this statement entirely true by forming our little government completely. We have a legislative department, which makes the laws for our school and the executive department which sees that the laws of the school are obeyed. But one of the most important departments is missing and that is the judicial body. This group, if the greens have their way, will be installed in our school as soon as possible. The purpose of this court is to let the students handle their own discipline problems. This court is to be represented by the students, and members of the faculty."

"Secondly, I am going to cultivate school spirit among our students, and have them boost all school activities. One instance to prove that Lathrop spirit is failing among some students is that when Lathrop was first instituted, no one could say anything about Lathrop with but some twenty or fifty people making that person change his opinion."

"Thirdly, Participation shall be opened to all on the basis of absolute democracy. This means that no matter what you are or look like you may say anything to help Lathrop become first mentally, physically and morally."

"I will also see that the students obey the laws of our school, especially the girls in wearing their uniforms. If some of you girls that are against uniforms would hear what tourists say about uniforms, you would like wearing your uniforms. Now try to make yourselves good citizens for Lathrop."

"My motto is 'Stand with him that is right while he is right, but part from him when he goes wrong.' I thank you for your kind attention."

Edward Sudgen
The speech of Edward Sudgen running for president on the white party ticket: "Members of the student body, I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and your delegates for electing me a nominee to the office of President of the Julia C. Lathrop student body."

"You have heard our Platform and I assure you that if I am elected I will do everything possible to uphold and carry out fully this platform."

Here are some things I'd like you to help me put over during my term if I am so fortunate as to hold the majority of your votes.

Prompt payment of student body dues.

A hard and efficient fight for a bigger and better line up.

A just and representative student court.

Better athletics, including more equipment and greater turnouts at games.

And lastly a school which will rank first in scholarship, spirit and sportsmanship.

I thank you."

Audrey Dohmer
The speech of Audrey Dohmer running for secretary on the white party ticket: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank the students and the delegates they chose for electing me as nominee for secretary of the Julia Lathrop student body."

"The student body has been quite a great success in the one and a half year that it has been in operation's offices think that they can improve it even more. They will endeavor to do this by upholding their platform."

"I am willing to co-operate with the officers, if I am elected, to make these improvements and will serve promptly, efficiently and faithfully."

John Muir

Monday afternoon at the John Muir school the last meeting for this school year, of the S. A. Kindergarten-Primary club, was held as a fitting climax for the year's work.

Before the business meeting, a very delightful programme was given, as follows:

Kindergarten band, Miss Mueller's pupils; Nature play, Miss Grimshaw's third graders; piano solos, Shirley Lengren, Charlotte Mock; Reading, Miss Paul.

After the programme, officers for the coming year were elected, president, Miss Grimshaw, John Muir school; vice president, Miss Pugh; secretary, Miss Lucinda Miller; treasurer, Miss Klein Smith; historian, Miss Fannie Hasty, Tustin school.

Miss Pugh gave an interesting report of the I. K. U. This was followed by a delightful social hour when tea was served.

Frances E. Willard

Exhibit Day
The exhibit day to be held at Willard Friday, June 4, promises to be quite a success. Practically every teacher is planning an exhibit of some kind and there will be interesting program both afternoon and evening. A play, "The Dyspeptic Ogre" by Percival Wilde, will be presented by the dramatics class. There will be musical numbers and an athletic stunt.

Summer Session June 21
The summer session to be held at Frances Willard this year will open on June 21st and will last for a term of six weeks. It is primarily for those who have been absent and would like to make up their work.

Mr. Kellogg is anxious to see any of those who are expecting to attend. He will be at the school on the forenoons of June 17, 18 and 19 for consultations. This is the week before school opens. Do not neglect making arrangements ahead of time as this is very necessary.

Graduation Plans

The promotion exercises will be held with Lathrop on the evening of June 11, at the high school auditorium. The program will be different from those of previous years. Instead of a speaker there will be musical and literary numbers presented by the members of the graduates of both schools. The baccalaureate service will be held in the Baptist church Sunday, June 6.

RED GOOSE AT BEACH CAUSES LIQUOR PLEDGE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—Sunday was supposed to be a day of rest for the red goose used by a local department store to advertise its shoes. He was supposed to sleep until noon but this bird was just goose enough not to recognize the blue laws of Huntington Beach and escaped from his box at 8 o'clock. Sunday was, therefore, a day in paradise for him, instead of a day of labor in a store window. All day he played up and down the beautiful sands of Huntington Beach, much to the amusement of visitors. He would have made a success of his adventure had he not violated a traffic ordinance of the city. With from 55 to 82 cars per minute on Ocean boulevard the obstruction of traffic is a violation of the law. Much to the amusement of the crowd, the bird was placed under arrest in spite of his many protestations. The place they put violators of the traffic laws in Huntington Beach is in jail. For the want of a better place, that is where this bird went.

But this traffic violator was not the only person of this free room and board establishment. A man who had patronized a bootlegger was reclining in the adjoining cell. He awoke with a start. He stared and then retreated. The red goose appeared unnatural. Was he seeing things? Chief J. Tinsley found him later in a hysterical condition. He has taken the pledge and promises never to touch another drop.

MYRON RUMSEY SERVICES HELD

FULLERTON, June 1.—Funeral services were held this afternoon at the McAulay-Suter parlors for Myron B. Rumsey, who passed away at his home at 615 North Pomona avenue, Sunday evening. Mr. Rumsey was 82 years of age and a G.A.R. veteran.

Mr. Rumsey was well known in this locality, having lived in Fullerton for the past seven years. His wife passed away a year ago. Five daughters survive the deceased. They are Miss Nellie Rumsey, instructor in the Fullerton union high school; Miss Lulu Rumsey, of Anaheim; Mrs. W. A. Hays, of La Verne; Mrs. J. A. Hallett, of Summerville, Wn., and Mrs. P. B. Pigman, of Barstow.

The Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fullerton, and the Rev. G. G. Schmidt, of Anaheim, officiated at the funeral services. Interment was in Loma Vista cemetery.

Woman Poses As Half Sister Of Oakland Mayor

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Posing as the divorced wife of Mayor John L. Davis of Oakland, and as a half-sister of Gavin McNab, San Francisco attorney, a Chicago woman, going under the name of Mrs. Eugenia Anderson Rogers Davis, has borrowed large sums of money and made many purchases of expensive jewelry on credit in that city.

The woman's activities became known here yesterday when Mayor Davis wired the chief of police of Chicago asking him to investigate. A warrant for her arrest has been issued.

Mayor Davis, who is a widower, learned that his name was being used by a woman to secure credit in a letter received yesterday from a Mrs. Estelle J. Halpern of Chicago. Mrs. Halpern said she loaned her a large sum of money, as did other creditors, and that the woman bought expensive jewelry on credit on her representation that her divorce from the Oakland mayor would become final on May 3, and that on the same date she was to receive a large sum of money held in trust by her half-brother, Gavin McNab.

The letter said the woman spoke convincingly of the intimate private and political life of Mayor Davis, McNab and other social leaders of California, that she readily obtained large loans and extended credit.

When Mrs. Halpern and other creditors called shortly after May 3 for their promised settlement, "Mrs. Davis" had dropped out of sight and has not yet been found. A warrant has been issued for her arrest.

Mayor Davis has no divorced wife. Mrs. Davis died some years ago, and he has never married again.

"The whole thing is a surprise to me," he said. "It is evident that this woman told her story to peo-

Beach Fines For Month Total $2,453

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—During the past month, there were 116 arrests in Huntington Beach and the fines aggregated $2,453, according to a report to the city trustees.

The majority of the arrests were for violations of the traffic and liquor laws.

WILDCAT WELL LACKS SHOWINGS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—The California Petroleum corporation, drilling a wildcat well on the Buck ranch, west of the Huntington Beach field, has had no showings as yet, according to field reports. The well is down 3600 feet in sandy shale.

The company took over the lease on the Buck ranch from King G. Gillette several weeks ago. Should oil be discovered, it will open up an entirely new field, according to oil men, who say that the western limits of the Huntington Beach field were defined long ago.

BREA COMPANY GETS 250-BARREL WELL

BREA, June 1.—The Brea Canyon Oil company has succeeded in getting a good 250-barrel well flowing high-gravity oil in the Brea-Olinda field, according to field reports. The well was brought in at a depth of 2240 feet, the oil testing 30 deg. gravity and showing less than two per cent cut.

STANDARD WELL IN AT 700 BARRELS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—The Standard Oil company has completed its No. B-45 in the area west of Huntington Beach, according to official reports. The well came in at a depth of 4384 feet, producing about 700 barrels a day, but with a cut of about 18 per cent. This cut has been reduced to less than four per cent and the well is now making about 500 barrels a day of net oil, it is said.

Mesa Woman Hit By Automobile

COSTA MESA, June 1.—On Newport boulevard, just in front of the Costa Mesa, bird farm, Lenna Brown was knocked down by a passing motorist. She was badly bruised about the face, arms and legs.

Wm. Paterson, of the bird farm, brought Miss Brown to her home on Hamilton street.

Just a little over a week ago, Miss Brown picked up a neighbor's child, who had been hit by a truck, and carried the child to its home nearby.

Daughters Sell American Flags

ORANGE, June 1.—As a part of a campaign to have every home and business house equipped with an American flag, the Daughters of Veterans' Tent in Orange has undertaken to sell flags to local townspeople. The flags, as described in literature sent out by representatives of the tent are 4 by 6, fast colors, with a 12-foot pole made of two sections and joined with a brass tube. A special socket to be immediately in the lawn and covered with a screw cap when not in use makes the problem of where to place the flag, easy.

FRIENDS SEE MISSING L. A. WOMAN IN CAR

BALBOA, June 1.—Mrs. Howard T. James, who disappeared from Balboa with her baby after leaving three suicide notes, was seen in an automobile near Artesia Sunday by friends, it was learned today. The friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Orr, are positive that the woman they saw was Mrs. James. They state that she appeared to be greatly excited.

The Orrs attempted to follow the machine but owing to the heavy traffic, soon lost sight of the car. James has enlisted the aid of police throughout the state in an effort to locate the woman and the baby. An investigation of the woman's home in Los Angeles revealed a letter from a man in Gurnerville, asking Mrs. James to communicate with him. Police plan to question this man in effort to learn if he knows anything of her whereabouts.

The woman's first husband is said to be in Phoenix. James does not incline to the theory that he had anything to do with her disappearance.

George Eberle, cafeteria employee, who saw a man holding a baby at the rear of the Balboa hotel on the evening that Mrs. James dropped from sight, is positive that the infant was the James' child.

SERVICES HONOR VETERANS OF WARS

FULLERTON, June 1.—Memorial day services yesterday did special honor to the local members of the G. A. R., who were given seats on the speakers' platform as a special honor. Other veteran organizations with their auxiliaries participated in the program following the parade.

Following a luncheon served to the G. A. R. members and their wives in the I. O. O. F. hall by the W. R. C. and the Daughters of Veterans, the group joined the remainder of the service organizations at the Loma Vista cemetery. The Rev. S. Fraser Langford delivered the address of the day.

Hollis H. Knowlton delivered the Gettysburg address. Special quartet music concluded the program. The parade was headed by the Fullerton city band. Major R. H. Lee, Brea, acted as marshal. Three posts of American Legion, Fullerton, Brea and La Habra, participated in the parade. A drum corps preceded the marchers.

FULLERTON YOUTH DELIVERS ADDRESS

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Veterans of all wars, with auxiliary organizations and Boy Scouts, were the units around which the Memorial day services were built yesterday. The services were conducted in the Anaheim cemetery beginning at 9:30 a. m. The invocation was delivered by the Rev. G. G. Schmidt. The Rev. A. Lincoln Marko, commander of the local G. A. R., delivered the address of the day on the subject of the "Causes and Effects of the Civil War." A short speech by Jason B. Root, past commander of the local post, concluded the speaking program. A prayer was offered by the Rev. Otho Williams.

"The Gettysburg Address," delivered by Lenna Tanner, Fullerton boy, and music by the American Legion band, comprised the entertainment following the services.

TANTLINGER SPEAKS AT BEACH GATHERING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—School children carrying flowers and flags attracted the attention of the onlookers at the Memorial day parade here yesterday. Forming at Seventh and Main streets, the marchers traveled the business section of the town, the parade ending at the pier. An address by W. W. Tantlinger, past commander of the Spanish war veterans, told of the reasons for Memorial day observance.

On the march from the pier, the paraders dropped flowers on the water. A band concert in the afternoon concluded the exercises.

Cops, Firemen Enjoy Vacation

ORANGE, June 1.—Expectations of considerable activity on the part of the local police department the past three days were not fulfilled. The usual speed and traffic arrests were made. Delving into archives of the past few weeks reveals the fact that, except for traffic violations, no arrests have been made by the local police officers since May 13, although accidents and arrests on liquor charges were noted throughout the rest of the county.

Paralleling the record of the police department is that of the fire department. Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin reports no fires in more than two months. The last fire of importance was the conflagration at the Smith lumber yard on South Flixley street, March 13. Two small blazes claimed the attention of the department within the next two weeks following the lumber yard fire, but since then, Orange has been entirely free of fires.

H. B. Trustees To Select New Officials

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—A special meeting of the city council of Huntington Beach has been called for tonight at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of receiving and acting upon the resignation of City Clerk W. R. Wright, who has been serving the city in this capacity since June, 1922. The appointment of a new clerk, the appointment of a gas department auditor and the appointment of a comptroller will be part of the business handled at this meeting.

BRITISH STRIKE IS LAID TO REDS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The recent British general strike was not an industrial struggle but one in reality a bolshevik movement against constitutional government, Captain Gilbert Frankau, English novelist, author of "Masterson," told the Commonwealth club.

He said that during the war the trade unions or labor party came under the control of socialists, communists and bolsheviks who sought through the workingman to overthrow the government. Frankau said that the vote to strike was won only by a small majority.

"The troubles of the coal miners and the coal mine operators," he said, "were only an excuse for a strike by which a small body of leaders in the labor party, some of them evil-minded men, sought to impose their will on the people of England who at the last election had thrown the labor party out of office by a majority of millions of votes."

"Of the forty million dollars collected from the British workmen yesterday for the rate of about a shilling each, three millions were used for political and similar purposes. A. J. Cook, the strike leader, never did a stroke of manual labor in his life except during two years he was in a penitentiary. He said when he came out and was chosen trade union secretary that he would get even with the British people for putting him behind the bars. He also said that he was a disciple of the Russian bolshevik leaders."

"The English workman, sober, industrious, somewhat stupid, but law-abiding and liberty-loving, showed his mettle when he refused to continue the strike called by the enemies of constitutional government."

Frankau was scheduled to speak yesterday at the "Caucus of the Yellow International," but altered his topic just before he took the rostrum. He made the change despite the fact that he was informed that the British strike is to be discussed at the next meeting of the club.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania cinched the matter of Ralph Beaver Strassburger, of Sharon, being a coming man in politics. Strassburger may not be very well known outside his own state now, but he will be.

Strassburger unquestionably meant to be a candidate for the nomination Bill Vane got. His issue would have been the same issue as Bill's—the prohibition issue. His program is the attainment of temperance by the light wine and beer route.

If Strassburger had run, Vane probably would have stayed out. But Strassburger was detained in France, where he'd been visiting, by his only son's serious illness, and didn't arrive home until too late to attend to the necessary preliminaries to launching his candidacy.

Lacking Strassburger, the wet Republicans needed a champion, and Bill Vane offered himself—was glad of the chance, no doubt.

Strassburger did get home in time to support Bill, personally and through his newspaper, the Norris-town Times-Herald.

So Vane will come to the senate—a Republican nomination being equivalent to an election in Pennsylvania under deep obligations to Strassburger.

They speak of Vane's victory as having given him the leadership of Keystone state Republicanism, but my guess is that Strassburger will have about as much to say as anybody.

At any rate, what he wants he'll get pretty apt to get, either by taking it for himself or asking Vane for it.

And Strassburger wants quite a lot. It will be recalled that he wanted the Republican vice presidential nomination in 1924. He didn't get that, but it's pretty certain he could have had this last senatorial nomination if he'd been in the country.

Now, what will Strassburger want in 1927? Well, there's another Pennsylvania senator to be nominated then and there's also a national ticket, and the man who goes into a Republican convention with the backing of a state like Pennsylvania goes in with some backing.

Strassburger has some other advantages, too.

He has lots of money, a perfectly clean record, no previous political affiliations to embarrass him and a career to be proud of, as a naval officer, diplomat and financier.

His foreign-sounding name may be some little disadvantage to him,

CHILDREN IN STREET CAUSE AUTO ACCIDENT

FULLERTON, June 1.—Mathew A. Griffin, of 225 east First street, Long Beach, reported to the police yesterday that he completely destroyed a lamp post on Jacaranda avenue by driving his car into it in order to avoid hitting two children.

Griffin was going west on Jacaranda, when he noticed two children playing in the street, he reported. He turned his wheel but another youngster came out into the street on a scooter. Griffin swerved to the right and ran his car up over the curb against the light post.

Approximately $125 damage was done to his car.

SALE OF POPPIES NETS $122 TOTAL

ORANGE, June 1.—Latest reports of the poppy sale preceding Memorial day in Orange place the number of the artificial flowers sold at 1983, with proceeds at $122. Eight women in charge of Mrs. Clyde Slater canvassed each individual in the town and even journeyed to Orange county park during the Kansas picnic to dispose of the poppies.

Movie Chatterbox

NEW YORK, June 1.—When, two years ago, society learned that Mrs. John Harriman had stepped out of the salon into the movie set, it merely shrugged.

It was quite a fad for fashionable women to become bored with the social whirl and take to some profession.

Gloria Gould had opened a dancing school, somebody else had taken a position in a New York store and somebody else had opened a tearoom. It would not last.

The two years have passed. Mrs. John Harriman is still in the films. And she will stay. If the world in general has forgotten about it, it is because she took her maiden name. But she has reached that point in her career where she is sure of herself. She has requested the Paramount people to be known henceforth as Mrs. Harriman.

Puts Temperament Aside

And no unknown extra has worked harder to win success than she. "She has continuously subordinated herself to her art," said a director. "She has shown herself to have more spirit, sportsmanship and real stuff than many a star. She has put temperament aside for the sake of the picture."

"There has not been a time when she could not have walked out and told everybody to jump in the lake. Her position and money were all hers. But she didn't."

"She is the first on the job and the last to leave and she'll take any part, willingly."

"And disappointment! Many a star would have walked out long ago."

"She has rehearsed the leading role that later was taken by any one of half a dozen stars, but she is going to be in the big lights yet—and soon."

Plays in "Satan"

"Just now she is playing a good but subordinate part in 'The Sorrows of Satan.' She was thought of so highly that the lead, which finally was landed by Lya de Putti, was assigned her."

Then Miss de Putti arrived from Europe and a change was made. She took the disappointment, which must have been a great one, like a gentleman and a scholar. She'll be rewarded yet for she has stuck and she has the talent. One of these days she'll get a break."

So, it would seem, Mrs. Harriman may be lost to society for a time. She's too busy working. She left Palm Beach in mid-season to rush to rehearsal. A trip to Europe, on which she has just started, may be dropped at any moment if a call comes.

THEY BURN LAKE

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Dr. Paul C. Standley, botanist of the National Herbarium, who recently returned from Costa Rica, reported that they natives burn a certain lake every year. The lake is thickly grown over with tall grass. The tips dry under the sun and the natives set fire to the mass.

HORSES REWARDED

TOPEKA, Kas., June 1.—Because they gave their earlier years in assisting him to make a start in business, Roy Payne, president of the Topeka and Wichita Yellow Cab companies, is maintaining two aged horses on a farm. They are 21 years old, and hauled baggage when Jayne started in business.

BOY ROUTS BEES

GRASS RANGE, Mont., June 1.—A small boy, with a firecracker left over from last Fourth of July, is the hero of this town. The boy and the cracker routed a swarm of bees that had taken headquarters under a board walk on one of the main streets.

Roald Amundsen, the only man who has visited both the North and South poles, began his career as a polar explorer in 1897, when he sailed as mate with the Belgica Antarctic expedition.

but he's an American of many generations' standing, the descendant of an old reformed church family which settled in Pennsylvania before the Revolution.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Formal opening of the Yost Broadway Theater tomorrow night will be an event of more than ordinary community interest, significance and importance. The theater management, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Yost and their son Harold Yost, and the Broadway Improvement Company, consisting of W. A. Huff, George S. Smith, W. B. Williams, Cood Adams, Arthur H. Lyon, Ray Lambert, Harry Spencer, H. L. Wakeham, A. W. Rutan and T. E. Stephenson, are to be commended and thanked for their enterprise, and their faith in Santa Ana; for it requires both business enterprise and faith in the community to undertake and carry through to success an amusement project of such magnitude as that of the Yost Broadway Theater.

And Santa Ana and all Orange County are to be congratulated on the acquisition of such a theater. Nothing of equal investment proportions could do more to give distinction and prominence to Santa Ana as the capital city and commercial center of Orange County than will be given by this commodious and beautiful playhouse. It will draw people to Santa Ana from all parts of the county, and will induce many tourists to stay over night or tarry longer in the city than they would without such an attraction. We believe that it is not an extravagant assumption to predict that the Yost Broadway Theater will, in the course of years, add many desirable residents to Santa Ana and vicinity; for it is only necessary to get people to stay here a short time, under delightful conditions of entertainment, to induce them to become permanent residents.

The Yost Broadway Theater is conceded by theater men, architects, builders and all others having knowledge of such matters to be the largest and finest and most beautiful theater in the state in a town the size of Santa Ana. In beauty of architecture and decorations, in spacious and comfortable capacity, the Yost Broadway Theater leaves nothing to be desired. It only remains for the management to realize that the character and quality of entertainment offered shall be in harmony with the building and its accessories to insure its universal popularity and unqualified success; and that the management does realize this, and does purpose to have it so, is assured by the law of enlightened selfishness as well as by the character and intelligence of Mr. Yost and his associates.

SENATOR KING HERE TODAY

This editorial is meant as a welcome on the part of the many friends of Senator Lyman M. King of Redlands, extended to him on his arrival here for the purpose of delivering an address this evening at the First Christian church. Senator King knows Orange county. For many years he was a property owner here, and, so far as we know, he still is. Throughout his career as a legislator at Sacramento, he was always found standing for the interests of Orange county, he, what's more to the point, was found there without having to be asked; he understood our problems as thoroughly as though he had been sent to the State Senate from this district.

Just now Senator King is in the midst of a campaign for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor. As a keen and intelligent student of governmental matters, with a rare judgment concerning legislation, Senator King knows the problems of California, the state, just as we have always found that he knew the problems of Orange, the county, and Santa Ana, the city. He has a broad foundation in experience and ability and a natural aptitude in sincerity and personality that have fitted him for great usefulness in the affairs of California. We are convinced that, by all means, the voters of California should seize the opportunity given them to put him into a position where his experience, ability, sincerity and personality can be made to count more than ever before for the betterment of government in California.

THESE SCHOOLS A SUCCESS

It is fortunate that no material change will be made in the operation of the two junior high schools of Santa Ana as a result of the decision of the state attorney general. This decision was to the effect that a junior high school district cannot be organized for taxation purposes, in Santa Ana or with Santa Ana as a part of the district. The decision merely points out that for the purpose of raising money for the two junior high schools, the board of education must recognize the fact that there are but two districts to be considered: first, the elementary district, which can be taxed for conducting the grades up to and including the eighth; second, the high school district, which can be taxed for running the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

At the office of the board of education it was stated that the junior high schools will be conducted as hitherto, with careful segregation of costs as between the ninth grade, the cost of operation of which is chargeable to the high school district, and the other grades, the cost of which must be carried by the elementary or common school district.

The junior high school plan as carried out in Santa Ana has been a distinct success. There seems to be a logical division point at the end of the ninth grade as between the grammar grades and the high school grades. The arrangement of work in the junior high schools in general has been in keeping with the capabilities of the students. This we say knowing full well that there are many who believe that the junior high schools are prone to thrust students too early into language and other courses that a few years ago were thought to be fitted only for high school students. And, we might say, in that viewpoint we are inclined to agree. The question, however, is one to be settled by experienced, practical educators, and it has been settled so far as our own junior high schools are concerned.

We are certain that the school system of Santa Ana produces good results. Those who go from the junior high schools into the high school enter with ease into the high school system, and graduates of our high school, which is fully accredited by the University of California, enter colleges and universities and make excellent records there. The proof of the success of a high school's methods lies in the record, year after year, of its graduates in the various institutions to which they go on graduation from the high school. By that adequate measure Santa Ana's high school is a success, for in scholarship and in citizenship, graduates of Santa Ana High School in general attain and hold good standing wherever they go on recommendations from Santa Ana High School.

The Grade Crossing Problem

Riverside Press

Riverside was the scene a few days ago of another grade crossing fatality; and it is to be hoped that we have not become so accustomed to tragedies of this sort that we shall fail to give earnest and sober attention to the problem of the "open crossing."

It is all very well to say that these accidents are due to careless driving, but that easy explanation is not adequate. Blame for some of the accidents does rest primarily with the victims, but there are plenty of exceptions. A prominent Riverside woman was driving her car from the east side down town recently; she was driving carefully over a crossing that is not protected by gates, a bell, or watchman. Suddenly from behind a line of freight cars a switch engine shot out, pushing a box car. The automobile was struck and badly damaged and the driver escaped almost by a miracle. The driver was absolutely without warning or protection and the blame seems to be divided between the railroad company and the city that has not insisted on better grade crossing regulations.

It is no exaggeration to say that scores of lives have been sacrificed in Riverside county within the last few years in grade crossing accidents that were preventable. Safety devices have been increased in recent years; but many crossings that carry a large amount of travel are still unprotected. It is more over true that the "wig-wag" signals get out of order and should be carefully checked up at frequent intervals. The expense of subways is admittedly heavy; but that is the ideal crossing. The amount of travel at certain crossings in Riverside is becoming so heavy that the subway plan should be faced frankly as a real necessity.

There are other crossings where gates should be installed, and still others where "wig-wags" would answer very well, if they were kept in order.

The obligation is on the city to safeguard the lives of its citizens by reasonable grade crossing protection. If people will drive directly into a train or smash through gates, their cases are hopeless; but fast overland trains go rushing through the city over crossings that have no protection and switching of cars is carried on without regard to passing motorists. "Stop, Look, Listen," is a good warning to railroad employees as well as to auto drivers.

It would be timely for the city authorities to make a careful study of the grade crossing situation; and then the safeguarding of the most dangerous ones should be taken up with the railroads concerned in a spirit of fairness but also with an attitude of firmness. Our experience in the past has shown that the railroads move slowly in these matters; and the city cannot wait for voluntary action on their part. The city will have to take the initiative and also will have to insist that adequate safety devices be installed where the need is imperative.

The Non-Voting Elector

Riverside Press

The fact, unfortunately established by figures, that hardly one out of two eligible voters in the United States exercises his voting privilege, threatens the actual life and political entity of our nation. There is not only rhythm but plain commonsense in the old couplet, "Ill fares the land to hastening ill a prey, Where wealth accumulates and men decay." And the failure to show enough interest in the maintenance of the nation to vote on election days leads to an interpretation which sustains the couplet quoted.

All other arguments failing, perhaps American national pride may be stirred to emulation by the presentation of the plain fact that in other nations the people are doing better, and have taken the honor of leadership in voting participation which we once enjoyed. At the 1924 parliamentary elections in England 76% of the eligible voted; in Australia and New Zealand from 80 to 90% of the eligible vote is cast. Canada votes almost 85%. In Germany they are voting 80%, and in the Scandinavian countries over 75%.

As was said in the Kansas City "Star," we have no desire to enthrone the American voter to the record of Boss Tweed in New York who one election voted 108% of the population of that city, but an improvement within entirely legitimate lines in voting participation would cheer many.

PREVENTION OF COLDS

When a person having a cold sneezes or coughs while in close proximity to a well person, there is a favorable opportunity for the direct transfer of infective material.

The cold-producing material may also be transferred through hands and handkerchiefs. The substitution of the military salute for handshaking has been highly recommended as one of the means of preventing the conveyance of colds.

Among children, the exchange of commonly used objects or food may serve to inaugurate new suffering.

People may be divided into two groups, those who have and those who, temporarily, do not have colds. For each class, there are definite preventive measures.

In all probability most colds are the result of getting into the nose or mouth infectious material from the nose or mouth of a sick person. Unpleasant as this may sound, it is often true—fingers playing an active part in the transfer.

Persons with colds should avoid, as much as possible, contact with others. It is better to remain quietly at home, in a room alone, instead of attending public gatherings or endeavoring to work in offices where contact is inevitable.

The careless person with a cold is a genuine menace. Let us hope the time is not far distant when this condition will occasion the sufferer to be excused from work and to remain at home.

The person who is well should be vigilant lest he contract a cold.

The standard rules of hygienic living must be followed. One should work, play and sleep in fresh air, which desirable commodity usually can be had in ample quantity by a bit of personal effort.

Room temperature in winter should not be allowed to go above 70 degrees Fahrenheit. When the temperature reaches 70 degrees, throw the windows wide open for a few minutes.

The clothing, of course, should be warm, and yet neither cumbersome nor uncomfortable. Nourishing and easily digestible food should be eaten in moderation.

Inasmuch as the material which causes colds is in all probability commonly conveyed by soiled fingers, it is imperative that the hands be kept clean.

By keeping the fingers away from the nose and mouth, and thoroughly washing the hands prior to eating, some of the danger of contracting colds can be eliminated. Finally, it is manifestly a wise thing to shun the person having a cold.

Good Place to Work As Well as Play

San Francisco Chronicle

A sane note is struck by the California Development Association in its emphasis that California is not only a place to play in but a place to work in; not only a place to spend money but a place to make money.

This emphasis in no wise minimizes the recreational riches of the state or its climatic advantages. Both will continue to swell our population total. And pleasant environment was never a handicap to industry. But as the association's aim is development more than advertising, it is natural that its principal attention should be directed to production and markets rather than making better known the glories of a delightful geography.

The early development of California came through the exploitation of the rich placers and lode deposits, accompanied by stock raising and agriculture. Coast cities developed a deep sea commerce, but manufacturing industry lagged.

But with the growth of population there became available a market that would sustain not only the simpler forms of manufacture, but the more involved industries. The state, and its Pacific coast background, grew to a size that makes possible a well ordered and industrial development integrated with commerce, agriculture, mining, lumbering, oil production and fisheries.

California will remain the playground of America. It can also become a hive of industry for a vastly increased population.

Worth While Verse

PLANTING BAMBOOS

Unrewarded, my will to serve the state;
At my closed door Autumn grasses grow,
What could I do to ease a rustic heart?
I planted bamboos, more than a hundred shoots.
When I see their beauty, as they grow by the stream-side,

I feel again as though I lived in the hills,
And many a time on public holidays
Round their railings I walk till night comes,
Do not say that their shoots are still weak,
Do not say that their shade is still small;
Already I feel that both in garden and house
Day by day a fresher air moves.
But most I love, lying near the window-side,
To hear in their branches the sound of the Autumn-wind.

LIFE

Just what are we striving for, here on this earth?
Why is it we all love to live? Are things that we're getting, from day to day, worth as much as the things that we give?

Take selfishness, hatred and envy and such—what happiness comes from their lot? You know very well that they'll never bring you much of whatever the cheer that you've got.

But love and real friendship, and all things akin, keep spirit, that's brightest, outstanding. Their part of our living lets real sunshine in—the thing that we're always demanding.

The love of all life is the brotherly brand, and woe comes when-er we forsake it. 'Twill better the world when we all understand that happiness lives as we make it.

When a conscientious man owes money, his mind can't settle down until he has settled up.

Every housewife has a calling—that's what gets the kids to come in the house when supper is on the table.

The bill collector rang the bell. There isn't any doubt, The wife was sorry she was in. For shortly she was out.

The father who washed the alarm clock's face and put the baby out, didn't realize he was absent-minded until he tried to set the cat up 15 minutes.

FABLES IN FACT

Once there was a young lady who went to so many dances that she died herself out. Her mother decided that the girl had better get a job so she'd work during the day, and be too tired to step out at night. Now the girl is a telephone operator and she attends parties all day long, but doesn't go to any in the evening.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

They sat out in the moonlight, and their hearts were beating fast. No doubt, they both were wondering just how long it was gonna last. Now quiet ruled supremely, you could tell they were afraid, and each one hushed the other when the slightest sound was made.

The neighbors, in the house next door, were at a window pane, a lookin' and a lookin', but their looks were quite in vain. The fright of both the lovers you can surely understand when you know one of the neighbors had a snip on his hand.

"I guess we'd better beat it," came a whisper, in a breath. The other didn't answer. He was almost scared to death. Another hour they waited. Every minute was intense. And then they made a sudden dash, and cleared the backyard fence.

Another romance blasted 'neath the moon that shines above. 'Twas just because the lovers sat and howled their bloomin' love. The whole world loves a lover is a true thought, now and then. But when they're only alley cats—it's something else again.

Studying Chaco Canyon

The "Visitors Welcome" sign will be hung out this summer at Pueblo Bonito, Chaco canyon, New Mexico.

Dr. Nell M. Judd, leader of the National Geographical society expedition to Chaco canyon, made this announcement on the eve of his departure from Washington for his sixth and probably last year of work at Pueblo Bonito. This prehistoric apartment house is now considered the most important site of Indian culture in all North America above the Rio Grande.

Eleven other experts in different fields, including geology, engineering and archaeology, will join the National Geographic society's expedition at Chaco canyon. Thirty Indians, blood descendants perhaps of the Indians who occupied Pueblo Bonito a thousand or more years ago, will be employed again to remove and sift the sand and debris that cover the outworks of the building.

Visitors can now be welcomed to Pueblo Bonito, which is the chief National Geographic society national monument, because the work of removing the sand and debris from the main section of the ruins of this 800-room communal house is finished. The rooms and the sacred kivas, or ceremonial places, are safely preserved against the ravages of weather.

While Pueblo Bonito is the largest of the ancient pueblos which are well preserved, and probably was the leading city in the civilization of the Southwest in its pre-Columbus days, there are other ruins to be seen in Chaco canyon. The Valley of Kings in Egypt has a counterpart in this valley of ancient pueblos.

Two objectives are before the National Geographic society expedition in the sixth year of its work. The first is to determine the age of the various civilizations which inhabited Pueblo Bonito. The second is to continue the stratigraphy.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Walte, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT a Chamber of Commerce is working all the time to make every dream and ambition of the home city come true.

THAT its members work for good government and such constructive work that tends to make a better, brighter and busier city.

THAT in every organization there is a minority which disagrees with the majority.

THAT their efforts to become the majority keep those in power alive and active, and thus they really bring about the inspiration for the majority to excel in order to hold their place.

THAT differences of opinion are bound to arise in all organizations. It is often needed. Without it many organizations would die.

THAT the individual who fights for the public's good stands alone. He is only heard within a small circle.

THAT organizations accomplish their purpose because they have sufficient power to give momentum to carry out well thought out plans.

WORKING THROUGH THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS PROVEN THE SUCCESSFUL WAY TO BUILD CITIES.

SHOULD YOUR LOCAL ORGANIZATION NOT MEASURE UP TO YOUR IDEALS, JOIN IT AND WORK THROUGH THAT ORGANIZATION TO THE LIGHT AND HELP IT MOVE FORWARD TO ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

American Wealth

The advance of America in wealth staggers the imagination. In 1904 the estimated wealth of the United States was about $107,000,000,000. The stock of actual money in the United States in 1924 reached the stupendous volume of $8,746,000,000.

In 1904 the total value of manufactured products was $14,793,000,000. In 1923 it was $60,555,000,000.

The value of America's food products was about $2,845,000,000 in 1902, and $10,000,000,000 in 1924. In twenty years bank clearings quadrupled, rising to over $438,000,000, while deposits in the banks increased to more than $43,000,000,000 in 1924.

In 1904 membership in building and loan associations numbered 1,600,000. In 1924 it numbered about 7,100,000, with assets amounting to $3,942,000,000. In 1904 life insurance companies in the United States had in force $12,547,000,000; in 1924 more than $59,732,000,000.

Studying Chaco Canyon

The latter consists in running trenches through ruins or debris piles. Last year a 400-foot trench 12 feet deep was run. In layers, or strata, were found the broken pottery and sweepings of the four different periods of occupancy. The stratigraphic work last year also uncovered some foundations for a broad extension of Pueblo Bonito which was never carried out. These foundations were not previously suspected.

Fashions are the archeologists' key to periods. Just as we fix the Civil War period by hoop skirts, and the 1830's by puff sleeves and pompadours, fashions in pottery fix the Chaco canyon periods. For this reason any bits of pottery which Dr. Judd and his assistants can recover by trenching are important to round out the marvelous story which has been revealed by five years' explorations.

Since the Bonitians had no way of recording time, it has been necessary to find another calendar to fix the age of the ruins. Time is fixed in trees by the annual rings. Dr. A. E. Douglass discovered certain cycles in tree ring formations which agree with sun spot cycles of 11 years. By examining ring records from samples taken from new-cut western pine, and from pueblo logs which the Indians saved from old Spanish missions and from logs found in Pueblo Bonito, a calendar has been constructed. But there is a break between the Pueblo Bonito logs and the mission logs. Some of the work this year will be directed to closing this gap and thus determining more exactly the age of this civilization.

Stratigraphy will also take the expedition to two new sites not far from Pueblo Bonito this year. It is planned to run trenches through the debris pile of Pueblo Alto on the cliff one mile north of Chaco canyon and another at Penasco Blanco, four miles west of Pueblo Bonito.
